Senate Extends Excess Profit Tax Without Change

By JOHN D. MORRIS
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 15—The Senate passed and sent to the White House today the bill for continuation of the excess profits tax through Dec. 31, thereby sealing the hardest-fought victory of this congressional session for the Eisenhower administration.

The action, by voice vote, followed unusually brief debate that centered on a proposal by Senator Williams (Rep., Del.) to exempt corporations with annual earnings of less than $100,000, rather than $25,000. The Williams amendment was rejected on a roll-call ballot of 52 to 34.

EISENHOWER APPEAL

A last-minute appeal by President Eisenhower, relayed by Senator Millikin (Rep., Colo.), played a part in the decision to accept the bill without change. Millikin, who as chairman of the finance committee was floor manager of the measure, told the Senate he had talked with the President at 11 a. m. today.

"He does not want and hopes we will not put any amendments on this ball," the senator said, "because he fears the whole bill might vanish into nothingness if we did. . . . He asked me to urge my colleagues not to put any amendment on this bill."

Millikin's position, to which he said the President subscribed, was that the adoption of a single amendment would lead to many others, necessitate sending the measure back to the House and possibly result in a deadlock in a Senate-House conference committee.

COSPONSOR WITHDRAWS

Subsequently, Senator Hendrickson (Rep., N. J.) withdrew as a cosponsor of the Williams' amendment "with regret." He expressed hope that a new tax bill to be written next session would recognize the special problems of small business.

Millikin and Senator George of Georgia, senior Democratic member of the finance committee, voiced assurances that it would be done.

On the decisive ballot, 36 Republicans and 16 Democrats voted against the Williams proposal while nine Republicans and 25 Democrats supported it. Passage of the bill followed immediately. A few "no's" were heard.

As requested by Mr. Eisenhower in a special message May 20, the bill extends the much-criticized tax without change for six months, retroactive to June 30, when it expired as the result of delays and bitter battles in the House.

House Cuts AF Works, CD Funds

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The House passed an omnibus $168,155,584 appropriations bill today after approving drastic slashes in funds for civil defense, Air Force construction, and overseas information activities.

Passage came by voice vote after Democrats failed, 154 to 244, to send the bill back to committee. They wanted the committee to restore funds cut from the Voice of America, one of the overseas information activities.

The measure is the most drastically reduced major money bill in recent years, representing an 84 per cent cut in the $1,069,996,084 requested for the fiscal year which began July 1. It now goes to the Senate.

UPHOLD TRIM

Over Democratic protests, the House voted to uphold the action of its appropriations committee in trimming Mr. Eisenhower's recommendation for the foreign information program from $87,000,000 to $60,000,000. It defeated, 155 to 102, a motion by Rep. John J. Rooney (Dem., N. Y.) to restore $20,000,000.

Republicans defended the cut in information funds on grounds the voice has "wasted" money in the past. Rep. Frederic J. Coudert (Rep., N. Y.) said no budget recommended to Congress by the President is "sacrosanct."

SUPPORT IKE

Chairman John Taber (Rep., N. Y.) of the House appropriations committee said the House actually was acting "in support of the Eisenhower administration" in cutting the funds. He said "thousands and thousands of incompetents" are on the federal payroll and this was the way to get rid of them.

The House also sustained committee cuts which eliminated all new funds for Air Force construction here and abroad. President Truman had requested $700,000,000 and President Eisenhower had trimmed that to $400,000,000. The committee directed the Air Force to use $240,000,000 for that purpose out of funds already appropriated but unspent.

It also confirmed the committee's action in slashing civil defense funds to $37,700,000, a cut of $87,450,000 for Mr. Eisenhower's request and $112,230,000 from Mr. Truman's budget.

Soviet Expected To Offer Japan Peace Pact Soon

TOKYO, Thursday, July 16 (AP)—Top diplomatic sources here expect the Soviet Union to expand its peace offensive to the Far East and offer a peace treaty to Japan soon.

The Soviets probably do not expect to lure economically-weak Japan to their side, but they hope to drive a wedge between this nation and the United States.

In recent months, the Soviet Union has:

1. Opened a strenuous drive to increase trade between the two nations.
2. Slashed prices on such vital Japanese imports as coal to the point where Russia is probably breaking even at best.
3. Given the slumping Japan shipbuilding industry a shot in the arm by placing a large order for repair of Russian ships, and hinted bigger and better orders are in the works.

OUSTED RED—MOSCOW, July 15—Vladimir G. Dekanozov, one of Lavrenty P. Beria's former top aides and minister of internal security in Russia's Georgia, has been thrown out of the Georgian Communist Party, according to Moscow radio.

E. German Aide Fired; Purge Seen

BERLIN, July 15 (AP)—Communist East Germany purged its justice minister, Max Fechner, today and appointed a woman judge, "Red Hilde" Benjamin, to take his place.

Premier Otto Grotewohl said Fechner, 60, was fired for "activity hostile to the republic," but did not specify what this activity was. He apparently has been chosen as a scapegoat for the anti-government riots which began June 17.

Fechner's fall was made public just six days after Moscow announced that Soviet Secret Police Chief Lavrenty P. Beria had been stripped of high office and set down for trial as a traitor.

SAME FATE

The same fate apparently awaits Fechner. The East German Red minister was the first satellite politician to get the ax in what is expected to be a widespread purge in the wake of Beria's arrest. Fechner's son was reported arrested earlier today on undisclosed charges.

The East German announcement coincided with a Moscow radio declaration that Beria's crony, Vladimir G. Dekanozov, had been purged from the Communist party in Georgia, a Soviet Republic. This apparently meant that Dekanozov had also lost his job as minister for state security in Georgia, home province of Stalin and Beria.

Fechner was last in the news July 5 when he disclosed that 50,000 Germans had been arrested for taking part in the uprisings.

ANTI-AMERICAN

He had been noted since appointment to his job in 1949 as a vigorous anti-American and leader of the campaign to blame the regime's troubles on "American saboteurs."

But his successor, "Red Hilde," has been even more zealous.

Mrs. Benjamin went on the warpath last year and the scalps began piling up. Day after day, broken men were hauled before the bench where she sat as judge of the State Supreme Court. They were told what their alleged crime was, given virtually no chance of defense and sent off to long prison terms.

Her swarthy face, flashing black eyes and vitriolic tongue were a dynamic part of the Soviet zone scene. Next to party boss Walter Ulbricht she has been the most feared person in East Germany.

Mrs. Benjamin, who is Jewish, has been a Communist since the end of World War I.

'Showdown' Truce Talk Is Recessed

Clark Says Reds Violate Secrecy

By SAM SUMMERLIN

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, July 16 (AP)—U. N. Command and Communist Truce negotiators met less than a half hour today and recessed until Saturday, July 18, at 2 p. m. (midnight Friday EST).

There was a 15-minute delay in the start of today's meeting, scheduled for 11 a.m. and which had been called a "possible showdown" session. It ended at 11:39 a. m.

U. N. Commander Gen. Mark Clark arrived in Korea today from his Tokyo headquartters and immediately accused the Communists of violating secrecy of the armistice negotiations.

CLAIMS VIOLATION

Clark told newsmen who met him at the Seoul airport that the Communist radio report yesterday of an American "walkout" from the talks had "violated the executive nature of the truce sessions."

The general would not go beyond this statement.

But he said he will meet with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., chief UN delegate at Munsan.

Clark said he plans to stay two days in Korea.

Peiping's Red radio said that Harrison abruptly ended Wednesday's parley without asking if the Reds concurred and "walked out of the meeting." North Korea's Pyongyang radio said Harrison "arbitrarily broke up the truce talks Tuesday and Wednesday."

It said he walked out of the truce hut at Panmunjom without awaiting Red agreement to a recess.

CLAIM RUDENESS

"If this is the attitude Harrison intends to adopt at the closed plenary sessions, it will not be difficult to see that rudeness is not conducive to the clarification of the important questions concerning the implementation of the armistice," said the Communist broadcast.

U. N. sources in Korea said earlier that General Harrison, irritated by Red stalling tactics, simply told the Reds the time had come to sign or quit talking — then announced a reces sand headed for the door. This was Wednesday, Korean date, Tuesday, U. S.

Peiping said the Red delegates were insisting on more assurances from the United States that balky Syngman Rhee, South Korean President, will support a truce. Then the radio added:

"It is obvious that unilateral recessing of the plenary session cannot clarify this question."

Laborites Decry British Blockoff Of Canal Town

LONDON, July 15 (AP)—Laborites in the House of Commons today attacked Britain's latest actions in Egypt as "inflammatory" and "unfortunate."

They sharply criticized the cordoning off of the Suez Canal zone town of Ismailia after the abduction of a British soldier and asked why the incident was not solved through diplomatic channels.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd replied:

"I do not accept for one moment that this was inflammatory action. To set up check points to check vehicles and railway trucks seems to be an elementary precaution."

BOSTON, July 15—(AP)—Carlos Prio Socarras, deposed president of Cuba, said today a physical checkup here showed that he had no organic diseases and no operation would be necessary.

45,000 UN Troops Counter Bulge Offensive in Biggest Allied Assault Since 1951

Planes, Tanks Cover Wide Frontal Drive

By ROBERT VERMILLION

TOKYO, Thursday, July 16—(AP)—Forty-five thousand Allied troops, supported by swarms of fighter-bombers, tanks and massed artillery, counterattacked into the Communists along the Korean central front bulge today in the biggest Allied attack in two years.

The United Nations attack was launched at dawn and still was driving forward at last report. Three full divisions took part in the major UN's effort to push the Reds back from a three-mile bulge knocked into the Allied line along a 20-mile sector.

Allied artillery laid down a thunderous barrage as the huge UN attack force moved forward. One American advisory officer described the first enemy resistance as "light to heavy."

The massive attack crashed into the Reds along a "wide front," and at 10 a. m. observers reported it had made important gains.

ALL POWER MUSTERED

General Clark, UN supreme commander, arrived at an airport near Seoul today for conferences with General Taylor and a visit to the South Korean sector. He said the situation on the embattled east central front "appears to be in hand."

Early reports from the front indicated that the big eight to 10-division Communist offensive either has been halted or forced into reverse at key points all along the line.

The Eighth Army, which has been rolling with the Communist punches and suffering setbacks for the past six months, hit back today with all the power at its command.

"We are going to move and I don't see how anything can stop us," one Allied officer said. "If the little S. O. B.'s want to fight, we'll fight 'em."

"TROOPS JUBILANT"

Front reports said the attacking UN troops were jubilant as they smashed forward against the Reds in their biggest assault since 1951.

The big push was under the personal direction of General Taylor.

The three divisions involved in the offensive were not identified either as American or South Korean.

Front correspondents said the UN troops, weary of bloody and seemingly purposeless small battles for hills, lunged forward in the big assault happily.

Go-Get-Them Tactics In Indochina Urged

By JAMES RESTON
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

SAIGON, July 15—France's appeal for more United States aid in Indochina is being watched attentively here, but there is general agreement in this capital that without some changes in political and military strategy, more money and materiel will not win this war.

This correspondent has spent the last five days talking with French, Vietnamese, British and U. S. officials. With Indochina in the summer doldrums, this is a period of policy review in which the future of this war, and therefore of all southeast Asia, is very much at stake. Consequently, the impressions of responsible officials here may be of some interest.

CONSENSUS OF OBSERVERS

These opinions may be summarized as follows:

1. The war can be won only by the destruction of the five Vietminh (Communist) divisions encamped in northeastern Indochina between the Red River and the Chinese frontier.

2. This will require more material support from the United States, particularly to the Vietnamese, and probably a revision of France's obligations to the North Atlanta Treaty Organization, so that about 20,000 additional French troops can be sent here.

CHANGE IN POLITICS

3. In addition to this material aid—indeed to make any new military aid effective — the French will have to get out of their ring of forts around the Tonkin Delta in the autumn campaign and carry the battle to the Communists instead of trying to counter Vietminh offensives as in the past.

4. A change of political tactics also is necessary — by the Vietnamese to carry a stronger nationalistic feeling, and by the

Senate Okays GI Trials in Alien Courts

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The Senate today approved a treaty making American troops abroad subject to trial in foreign courts for off-duty foreign law violations. The treaty now needs only President Eisenhower's signature.

The vote of 72 to 15 followed a direct appeal from Mr. Eisenhower. Backers of the treaty polled 14 more votes than the needed two-thirds majority.

After the vote, Acting Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) thanked both Democrats and Republicans who supported the treaty. He conceded it could not have been approved without Democratic help.

The treaty and two related agreements establish the legal status of troops stationed in member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Mr. Eisenhower said ratification would be "a great step toward cementing the mutual security effort among nations of the free world."

Rhee Ready For Truce —Robertson

By WILMOT HERCHER

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—Walter S. Robertson returned from his Korean mission today to report that President Syngman Rhee has fallen in line with the United Nations forces and the question of a truce is now squarely up to the Reds.

Robertson, an assistant secretary of state who went to Rhee as President Eisenhower's personal envoy, called at the White House within an hour and a half after his plane touched down at the National Airport.

After a 40-minute conference with the President, Robertson told reporters Rhee has not changed his objections to an armistice in Korea at this time "but has agreed to collaborate with us" in an effort to achieve unification of the country by peaceful means.

"We can go ahead and sign an armistice in good faith at any time," he said.

Robertson was met at the airport here by Secretary of State Dulles, who told a circle of newsmen that the banker-diplomat from Richmond, Va., had done a splendid job in Korea and "made it possible for us to have an armistice."

Later the secretary qualified his statement by adding that an armistice would be possible providing the Reds agreed to it.

He declined to answer directly a question as to whether Rhee had promised not to carry on the fight alone if a truce is reached.

Chiang Guerrilla Forces in Burma Defy UN Order

BANGKOK, July 15—(AP)—Representatives of 12,000 Chinese Nationalist guerrillas in North Burma today defied a United Nations resolution calling for their withdrawal to ease tension so close to Red China.

At a four-nation conference—the United States, Burma, Thailand and Nationalist China—the chief Chinese delegate asked the guerrilla representatives to halt making press statements.

Despite that, Lt. Gen. Lee Tse-fen today told The Associated Press that Gen. Li Mi has been gone from Burma for more than six months and has no control over the guerrillas.

'Flying Cone' Identified As Meteor by Dobbins

By ANNE GOWEN

Air Force officials Wednesday tentatively identified the "flying cone" seen by north Georgians on July 6 as a large meteor traveling 2,000 miles a minutes about 50 miles above the earth.

This conclusion was recorded in a preliminary report by intelligence experts at the 35th Air Divisions, Dobbins Air Force Base.

At the same time, the airmen discarded the theory that Atlanta's flying cone could have been an airplane carrying a new high-power flare for low-level night photography.

Development of the 10,000-000-candlepower flares, which may be attached to the wings of reconnaissance planes, was revealed Wednesday by the Air Force in Washington. Officials there said test flights with the new devices had produced many flying saucer reports.

Air Force officials here pointed out that hundreds of persons who reported seeing the funnel-shaped object streaking across the sky at twilight July 6 said the object moved without making a sound. The new flare nicknamed the "Hell Roarer," would produce a lot of noise from the burning of pulverized magnesium, they said.

Although most witnesses estimated the flying cone was from 20 to 1,000 feet high, the Air Force officials said the meteor probably was about 50 miles from the earth when seen here. They explained that it is practically impossible for an observer to judge the height of a light in the sky.

Schools Must Tap Local Sources For Further Funds, Solons Warn

A joint legislative committee hinted Wednesday that if schools want more money in the near future they will have to look to local sources.

Rep. Walter Harrison of Millen said "someone is going to have to go home and tell the folks that Santa Claus is dead."

He slapped at what he called a growing tendency of county school systems to ask the state for help when they should be "digging down locally."

The Senate-House committee has been meeting intermittently for several months to study ways of getting more out of the school money available. It is working toward a report to present the General Assembly in November.

Harrison said he intended to tell the legislature what is wrong with the Georgia school system and "if I step on anybody's feet he'll just have to get his feet out of the way."

He blamed many of the schools' woes on "a general apathy on the part of our people."

Sen. Herbert Moon of Americus agreed that if school facilities are to be expanded beyond present plans "we'll have to ante up more on the local level."

Representatives of the State Principals' Association who appeared before the five-man legislative group were quizzed on the value of the visiting supervisor program and all agreed it had been helpful in improving schools generally.

Rep. Battle Hall of Floyd County, chairman of the group, told the committee certification had brought more complaints to legislators than almost any other problem.

The consensus seemed to be that some method of rewarding teachers of long experience but without degrees should be worked out.

At present, teacher salaries in Georgia are based largely on educational background; only a few county systems have enough surplus money to supplement basic salaries and thus recognize merit or experience.

E. Germany Asks Talks on Elections

Call Sounded on Heels Of Big 4 Talks Invitation

By WALTER SULLIVAN
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

BERLIN, July 15—The East German government proposed last night an immediate conference of delegates from East and West Germany to discuss preparations for "free all-German elections."

This was the first such Communist move in Germany since the death of Stalin and the subsequent Soviet "peace offensive." It followed by only a few hours the delivery of notes from the Western Big Three proposing to the Russians the holding of a foreign ministers' conference on Germany this fall.

ALLIES RAPPED AGAIN

The East German communique proposed the conference on elections, and said that at a special meeting of the East German ministers' council, or cabinet, the problem of German unity had been discussed. It again accused the Western powers and the West German government of having organized last month's disturbances in East Germany, and added:

"Nevertheless, the government (of East Germany) is prepared to negotiate with plenipotentiary representatives of West Germany on the question of preparing for the peaceful reunification of Germany through free all-German elections and on the question of the speedy conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany."

The cabinet's statement added that in these negotiations both the "proposals by representatives of the German Democratic Republic, as well as proposals by representatives of the Federal Republic, must be discussed."

LEAST POSSIBLE DELAY

"The government of the German Democratic Republic proposes summoning with the least possible delay an all-German conference of representatives of East and West Germany on the disposition of these questions," it said.

In the past, emphasis on free elections has been the chief demand of the Western powers. In earlier notes to the Soviet Union on German unity they proposed that conditions for holding free elections be inspected in both parts of Germany by a United Nations commission.

Such a commission was formed by the General Assembly and visited West Germany and West Berlin last year but failed to gain admittance to the Soviet-controlled areas.

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 15—Diplomatic officials regarded the East German move to negotiate free elections directly with the Federated Republic today as an "empty gesture" designed to beat the Western powers to the punch.

They noted that the proposal appeared to be timed just ahead of notice of the formal invitation of the United States, Britain and France to Russia for four-power talks on German unification and other questions in the fall.

The State department has received no direct word of the East German offer, and had no official comment. However, on the basis of news dispatches, informed sources expressed the view that the proposal could lead to nothing.

Big 3 Challenge Soviet To Limited Austria Talk

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The Big Three powers challenged Russia today to attend a foreign ministers' conference of "limited duration" to discuss an East-West settlement of the deadlocked German and Austrian problems.

In a swift follow-up to their own 3-power talks, the United States, Great Britain and France dispatched separate notes to Moscow suggesting that the conference begin about the end of September "at a place to be mutually agreed."

The Big Four talks the notes proposed would be the first since Russia's foreign minister met with the Western nations' representatives in Paris in May, 1949, to arrange an end to the Berlin blockade.

The three Western governments sent almost identically worded notes to Russian embassies in Washington, London and Paris for transmission to Moscow. They carefully specified that the conference should consider:

1. Firm arrangements for free elections in all Germany to pave the way for a free all-German government and a possible later peace treaty.

2. Final Russian-Western agreement on a "long overdue" Austrian peace settlement to end the foreign occupation of that country.

"The conclusion of the German and Austrian treaties which are long overdue," the U. S. note said, "clearly constitutes an essential element of the European settlement which the United States government regards as a major contribution to peace."

Reminding that similar previous notes to Russia have gone unanswered, the invitation said this government was making a new effort mindful of the even greater urgency which the recent events have given to German unification.

62 Million Acres Set For Wheat

WASHINGTON, July 15—(INS) Agriculture Secretary Benson declared today a national acreage allotment of 62 million acres on the 1954 crop because this year's total supply will far exceed domestic and export demands.

The secretary also fixed Aug. 14 as the date for a nationwide referendum to determine whether farmers will accept wheat marketing quotas. If producers reject quotas they will be eligible for price supports on 1954 wheat totalling only 50 per cent of parity whereas the current level is 90 per cent of parity.

At least two-thirds of the farmers voting in the referendum must approve the controls.

Acreage allotments will be distributed according to a new law signed by President Eisenhower Tuesday which sets 62 million acres as the national minimum.

Farms with more than 15 acres planted to wheat and with total annual production of more than 200 bushels will be eligible to vote in the referendum.

The cutback to 62 million acres will be a decline of 16,600,000 from this year's total of 78,800,000 wheat acres. Under a previous law, which expired Tuesday, the national minimum was 55 million acres.

Farmers who co-operate with acreage allotments may market all the wheat grown on their allotted acres.

Ike Asks 150 Million For Farm, Stock Loans

Agriculture Dept. Speeds Up Emergency Credit Program

By LEE GARRETT

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The Agriculture department moved swiftly today to make emergency loans available to farmers and stockmen, and President Eisenhower asked Congress for $150,000,000 to finance the program.

Even before the new money is provided, the department will be able to draw on some 16 millions it already has available. A spokesman said local committee should be set up and ready to pass on loan applications within a week or 10 days.

SOUTHWEST FIRST

The President, who only yesterday signed the legislation authorizing the emergency credit, made his request for the appropriation in a letter to House Speaker Martin (R-Mass). The amount was about what Congress was told would be needed when it voted to set up the program.

First priority was being given to the drought-stricken Southwest, where lack of rain has created shortages of feed and forced heavy marketing of cattle.

The loans will be available, however, to qualified borrowers in all parts of the country. They are to be limited to persons who are unable to get credit elsewhere, but who have a reasonable chance of weathering their difficulties and paying back the money.

LIVESTOCK LOANS

B. L. Farrington, acting director of the Agriculture Department's Agricultural Credit Services, said the local loan committees will be instructed to place much emphasis on an applicant's past record. Only loans of $50,000 or more require direct approval of Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Application blanks will be available within a few days at Farmers Home Administration offices and in areas where a heavy demand is expected, at banks and Production Credit Administration offices.

Special livestock loans of $2,500 or more will be available to producers and feeders of cattle, sheep and goats. The 3-year loans will carry 5 per cent interest.

In addition, farmers in designated disaster areas will be able to borrow at 3 per cent for other purposes, and special feed and seed loans also will be available.

Gruenther Denies NATO Sags in Peace Offensive

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, new supreme Allied commander in Europe reportedly told senators today he does not agree that the North Atlantic treaty setup is falling apart in the face of Soviet Russia's "peace offensive."

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee told newsmen that Gruenther definitely held contrary views on such pessimistic reports.

Gruenther appeared before the committee in support of the administration-sponsored bill for five billion dollars in new foreign aid funds. 2

"He's a very smart guy," Bridges said, after hearing Gruenther testify for two and one-half hours behind closed doors.

GENERALLY OPTIMISTIC

"He gave a generally optimistic picture about the situation in Western Europe and the contributions of our allies, but he did not hide the weak links and problems."

Bridges said Gruenther did a "good job' in defending the aid bill and explaining the situation in the Western European defense buildup.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said Gruenther supported the measure "up to the hilt," and he commented:

"MOST PERSUASIVE"

"The general is most persuasive in his advocacy of any cause he puts his hand to."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn) said Gruenther gave a "very encouraging" report on the part being played by America's allies in Western Europe.

"He firmed up a lot of fuzzy questions for us," Thye said.

Gruenther, long a close associate of President Eisenhower, took up the role of pleader for the administration as Eisenhower sought to stave off threatened congressional cuts in the big aid bill.

PRESIDENTIAL BREAKFAST

The President had members of a House appropriations subcommittee to breakfast with him at the White House at 7 a.m., EST, and followed up by entertaining members of the Senate Appropriations Committee at lunch.

Bridges said Eisenhower made a "very sound plea" for Congress to appropriate the full $5,100,000,000 authorized for foreign aid.

Besides Gruenther, the President called in Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen and Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge to attend both sessions.

Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House group left the breakfast meeting with no outward sign of having been swayed against his previously expressed determination to seek heavy cuts in the aid measure.

GOPs Ruin 'Voice,' Says Rep. Preston

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 15—House Republicans stood accused today by Rep. Prince Preston (Dem., Ga.) of sabotaging the administration's Voice of America program.

In a lengthy speech on the floor the First District congressman attacked majority party leaders for reducing the Eisenhower budget nearly 50 per cent on Voice of America activities. He spoke as a Democratic member of the appropriations subcommittee which acted on the funds.

"It is perfectly obvious to the minority members who served on this subcommittee," he told the House, "that this is the beginning of the death of the Voice of America. I am sure that this is exactly what a great many on the Republican side of the aisle want to happen to this program."

Preston said it was similar to the claim Republicans were making on the Air Force reductions -that the country would get more planes for less money.

"Now they tell you that they are going to clean up this program and are going to send out more propaganda for less money. I would like to see them do it," he remarked.

The Georgian declared it was a deplorable situation "at this very critical time" where the seams in the Iron Curtain are beginning to crack for America to crawl back in its shell and give up on this proposition of propaganda to the world.

"When could it be more necessary to carry a strong message to the enslaved people behind the Iron Curtain than right now," he asked, "when we see so much evidence of activity and of rebellion on the part of the people who are enslaved? It is now when we should be most active."

At another point in his speech, Preston chided Republicans with this statement:

"It is disheartening to see the Republican Party in Congress cut the ground from under a new and distinguished American president. But it is happening weekly here and this is one of the finest examples of it."

Preston joined with other Democratic members in seeking to restore $20,000,000 of the cuts ordered by the committee in reporting out the bill, but the move was unsuccessful.

Dobbins' Portrait Presented

A portrait of the late Capt. Charles Dobbins, Marietta airman for whom Dobbins Air Force Base is named, was unveiled by his widow in ceremonies at the base Wednesday afternoon.

The portrait was painted by Mrs. Ollie Dickerson of Marietta and given to Mrs. Dobbins who in turn presented it to the base. It will hang in the base officers' club.

Col. Paul Hinds, base commander, accepted the portrait. "Captain Dobbins has honored himself more than we can honor him," Colonel Hinds said. "He is a fitting symbol of the courage possessed by men of the service."

Captain Dobbins was killed in 1944 when his plane was shot down over the Mediterranean sea.

FULTON PERSONNEL APPRAISAL SLATED

$5,000 Voted for Salary Survey

By DERICK DANIELS

Fulton County commission put up $5,000 Wednesday for an overall survey of county personnel classifications and pay scales.

And Roy D. Warren, chairman of the civil service board, told the board he has been informed the Legislature in November will require an "equalization" of county pay levels with Atlanta's.

The full civil service board appeared at the commission meeting to urge appropriation for the survey. The board's favorable vote was split, 3-1, with commissioner R. L. Doyal dissenting. Commissioner Archie Lindsey was absent.

Historically, the county's pay scales have been higher than the city's. Warren said the Legislators made no indication of how it would accomplish "equalization."

County Manager A. E. Fuller recommended the survey. He said, "We should study the entire system of classification and pay rates. If they are excessive, (a solution) should be determined on the whole rather than on a hit-and-miss basis."

The board adopted a resolution requiring all employees who drive on county business to file evidence within 30 days that they carry public liability insurance.

For those who receive gasoline allowances, the board made it mandatory to carry insurance. Employees, driving either their own cars or county equipment but who do not receive allowances, will be required either to carry insurance or sign a statement saying they will be responsible personally for any damages they cause.

The county cannot legally pay for insurance on its employees, County Atty. Harold Sheats said, and it is not responsible for any damages incurred by employees driving for the county.

A committee was appointed to advertise for bids on leasing the new county parking garage at Pryor and Mitchell Sts.

2 Spared as Plane Lands on Road

A small private plane made an emergency landing on Austell Rd. after taking off from the Cobb County Airport at 5:05 p. m. Tuesday, Cobb County police reported Wednesday.

N. M. Young, pilot, and R. O. Collins, passenger, escaped injury.

Police said the plane failed to gain enough altitude after taking off and crashed through utility lines. It landed on the road, damaging the landing gear, propeller and a wing.

Atlanta Teenagers Held in Car Theft

Three Atlanta teen-agers arrested near Mobile, Ala., have admitted stealing a new automobile in Atlanta, H. O. Hawkins, special agent in charge of the Mobile FBI office, said Wednesday.

Atlanta police Lt. J. L. Tuggle, auto larceny squad, said the trio took the car from Edmunds Motors at Spring and Harris Sts.

Hawkins said the youths were arrested Tuesday by highway patrolmen while sleeping in the car, parked on Highway 90, west of Mobile. They said they had driven it to New Orleans and then to Mobile after stealing it from the Atlanta firm about midnight Sunday, according to Hawkins.

They were charged with interstate transportation of a stolen automobile and bond was set at $500 each.

2 Arrested On Charges Of Lottery

Two Negro men were arrested Wednesday with lottery tickets estimated to represent more than $3,000 in a single day's business, police said.

Detectives R. A. Boone and O. L. Adams identified the two as Ralph Johnson, 28, of 128 Odd Fellow Pl., S. E., and James Kelly, 23, of 756 Terry St., S. E. They were booked on charges of disorderly conduct-lottery.

The men were halted in an automobile at Memorial Dr. and Loomis Ave., S. E., detectives related. They said Johnson, the driver, fled on foot and was caught two blocks away.

A paper sack found on the front floorboard contained a large assortment of original lottery tickets, detectives said. The tickets and the automobile were confiscated.

Johnson, who has a previous lottery record, was released from prison last October after completing a three-year sentence on charges of involuntary manslaughter, police said.

Aug. 8 Hearing Listed on Cook Traffic Charges

Seven charges against Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook growing out of a traffic incident near his home at 221 North Colonial Homes Circle, N. W., recently, have been continued until Aug. 8 in traffic court.

Ptl. J. O. Fincher and J. E. Dyer, who investigated, said Cook was charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquors or drugs, accident, drunk on the street, disorderly conduct-disturbance, disorderly conduct-cursing, leaving the scene of an accident, resisting arrest and failure to possess a driver's license.

Total Korean War Would Be Costly

The crushing Red onslaught now in progress in Korea is directed, it should be noted, at the ROK lines and the bulge north of the 38th parallel gained in the last Allied offensive. While they may be out to punish Syngman Rhee and to demonstrate their strength to the ROKs, they are also after lost territory.

As usual, they are oblivious to losses. Man in the mass or the individual means nothing to the Communists except as an instrument of the power of the state.

The Red offensive seems the tipoff that the truce talks will be dragged out further.

Rhee has been proceeding on the theory that in the last analysis the United States will come to his support in a crisis no matter what action he takes. He has shown that he is not to be trusted and the Reds know that, too.

Where does that leave us? We can tell the Reds that we will do everything in our power to prevent the South Koreans from breaking an armistice and that if they do they will get no support whatever. The same guarantee could be offered Rhee. This should allay Red fears and contain the ROKs at the same time.

Rejecting that course, the American people must decide what they want to do. Those who clamor for going ahead with the war and support of Rhee's demands must be willing to face what it entails. The cost in casualties, taxes, possible loss of our allies, and indefinite strain must be taken into account.

It is wishful thinking that total victory can be achieved in Korea without total war. It would not be cheap. Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger said in a recent issue of Newsweek:

> "Repeated statements of certain former commanders in the Far East that we have the capability of winning a complete victory in Korea doubtless encouraged Rhee in his recalcitrant attitude. Believing these statements, there is some excuse for his demand that the Reds be driven out of Korea. As one who commanded the Eighth Army for four years, I do not believe that a victory could be secured in North Korea without prohibitive losses and dangers which would increase mile by mile should a penetration be successful and an advance toward the Yalu follow."

Of course, we might still have to take that course. It may already be out of our hands. But we should ask ourselves, and especially those who applaud President Rhee so loudly, whether we are willing to pay the price. If so, let's tell the American people about what it would cost. If unwilling to pay the price, then let's try to work out a truce and see if the principle of collective security will work.

Why Deny Opportunity To Good School Men?

Herschel Lovett of Laurens County, legislator, member of the state school board and of the special legislative committee studying the problem of education has brought before the committee the problem of school superintendents shifting jobs.

He cites the disruption in school systems caused by change of administrators. He thinks there ought to be a law about it.

We think Mr. Lovett is getting into a field largely local and personal.

If a school superintendent making $6,000 in one system gets an offer of $10,000 in another and his board gives him an honorable release, as regretfully it usually will, he should be free to go.

Mr. Lovett doesn't say what specific kind of law he has in mind, but what he seems to propose might easily redound to the detriment of the small school system.

Good school men don't come around every day. A school board might have a hard time filling a vacancy if the prospect were asked to renounce all chances for promotion and pay.

Tobacco Mart Opening Brings Cheer to All

We are willing to let the farmers, warehousemen and buyers fight it out among themselves about whether an early or a late market opening is best and whether the selling season should be longer or shorter.

But one thing we do agree upon. The opening of the Georgia tobacco market is a gala day in Georgia. It is a festival in which the green gold from Georgia fields becomes green cash in farmers' pockets and the transition is a happy time for everybody.

Less than half a century ago tobacco was a negligible factor in the Georgia farm economy. In the search to find substitutes for cotton after the boll weevil had cut his swath, some farmers turned in desperation to the crop that largely had been left to the Carolinas. Within a few years it has become one of the state's most important cash crops.

This year, although government supports are about $3 per 100 pounds less than formerly, prices in general are expected to equal or exceed last year's. The Georgia-Florida-Alabama tobacco belt is expected to produce upwards of 150,000,000 pounds. Although the total will be less than last year, per-acre yield is said to be nearly 100 pounds more. With greater yields per acre, profits should be greater.

At any rate, today is the day the festival begins. The auctioneers are ready and the farmers are ready. It promises to be a good year for everybody concerned in the tobacco business and a needed shot in the arm to Georgia's farm income.

Let Supply-Demand Determine the Price

Rep. Willis Conger of Decatur has announced his intent to introduce in the November Assembly session a bill that would end the price-fixing powers of the State Milk Control Board.

The Decatur County legislator sees the surplus of milk in Georgia and the high price as incompatible. He declares price-fixing has stifled competition in his and other counties.

Commenting on the Conger proposal, Milk Board Chairman Charlie Duncan contends that the board has only those price-fixing powers delegated by milk producers, distributors and consumers.

He refers to the present state law passed in 1952 to circumvent a court decision that the milk board had no legal right to fix prices. Under the 1952 statute, the board's authority is less direct, but the effect is the same.

The law of supply and demand is nullified when a commodity price is fixed by fiat.

We would like to see that natural economic law have a chance to work in the Georgia milk market. We hail Representative Conger as a champion of the competitive system. We wish him luck.

Manufacturers' Day Is Sign of Progress

Down at Americus they are planning a day that could scarcely have been discussed 30 years ago. Sparked by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the city and county will sponsor a unique celebration on July 21 to be called "Manufacturers' Day."

The special event will honor the manufacturers who have chosen Americus, population 11,389, and Sumter County, population 24,208, as the site of their operations. Thirty-six such manufacturers will be so honored. It will be a gay event and a significant occasion that illustrates the economic progress that is not restricted to county lines or sections of Georgia.

There is a lesson in the census figures, too, about what has happened in Americus and Sumter County. In 1930, the county had a population of 26,800. By 1940, this had dropped to 24,502 as farm workers were displaced by the depression and migrated to cities in search of opportunity. Few of them stopped at Americus. During the decade 1940 to 1950, however, this migration, while not stopped, was slowed down to a trickle as Americus and Sumter leaders sought ways and means of providing opportunity at home.

The population of Americus grew from 9,281 in 1940 to 11,389 in 1950. Improved farming methods and rural electrification arrested some of the drift away from the land.

Success of their efforts to achieve a balance between agriculture and industry will be crowned at this celebration of "Manufacturers' Day." We rejoice with Americus and Sumter County and their forward-looking leaders who are helping to rebuild the Empire State.

Praise for Press Has Urbane Sound

Governor Talmadge graciously praised the newspapers for their constructive efforts in his speech to the Georgia Press Association meeting in Savannah recently and it sure did sound a heap more urbane than a previous time when the Talmadge verdict was unfavorable to "them lying newspapers."

Either the newspapers have improved or Talmadge has, or maybe both.

Precedent Backs Exposure Power

WASHINGTON—Naturally many of the so-called "liberal" Democrats in Congress are tired of congressional investigations—that is, inquiries managed and operated by the Republicans, with all the attendant headlines and television publicity they have been getting.

It's strange what a difference just a few months make. Senator Kefauver, Democrat, not so long ago was carrying on a television program with his Senate subcommittee. Applause came from far and wide that here at last the gamblers and the criminals were being exposed. Only the city bosses — most of them Democrats—were antagonized, and they did finally block his nomination for the presidency, though he ran better than Truman in the primaries. Some Democratic party leaders said the crime inquiry was not the business of the federal government at all and that, if law violation existed, it was the duty of the states and the cities to detect and punish crime.

For months it was obvious that a Senate committee was using the historic power of exposure and publicity only to draw attention to the breakdown of law enforcement among some local government bodies. One of the indirect results of the investigation is the present legislative compact between the states of New York and New Jersey to prevent crime in the hiring of labor in the docks of the Port of New York.

But now Senator Monroney (Dem., Okla.) has arisen to question the advisability of some of the investigations being conducted by the Senate committee on government operations headed by Senator McCarthy, (Rep., Wis.). He pleads, with reference to a possible questioning of the personnel of one government agency that, if Communists are to be ferreted out, "Let the FBI do it or even a special commission with congressional representation do it, if investigation is determined to be necessary." But he exhorts: "Please, please, let it be done without headlines and television."

It's odd that the so-called "liberals" who want to do away with investigations unless they happen to be conducting them, or unless ham-stringing rules are now adopted to govern procedures, are forgetting that they themselves have made the most use of this safeguard against invisible government and with the same "methods" and rules as are still in vogue today.

Perhaps the most impertinent inquiry of this kind was conducted back in March 1915 by Senator Walsh (Dem., Mon.) a "liberal" and a great constitutional lawyer who knew, of course, what freedom of the press or any other provisions of the constitution mean. He hauled a couple of top editors from a New York newspaper before his committee and demanded to know of them why they wrote certain editorials on a piece of then-pending legislation and if certain business and financial interests owned a substantial part of that particular newspaper. The editors answered respectfully and persuasively in denial of all accusations, and not a shred of evidence was adduced to impeach their integrity. But nobody called for changes in the procedures of committees or for the castigation of Senator Walsh.

Democrats Await Stevenson Return

WASHINGTON—It was apparent during the 1952 campaign that Adlai Stevenson was a rather special sort of candidate for President. It has, if anything, become even more apparent since, despite defeat and in now is the anticipation among Democrats, almost atwitter it is, of his return home in a few weeks from his world travels. Furthermore, the interest has about it a quality of possessiveness which exhibits itself in the way so many people have their own ideas of just what the 1952 Democratic candidate should do and say when he gets home; in short, how he should conduct himself as party leader.

The possessive interest, while it may eventually prove embarrassing, nevertheless is quite a tribute to the former governor of Illinois. His well-wishers, and they are very many, want him to follow just the proper course that will again make him the Democratic candidate for President.

Among party strategists who have given much thought to the Stevenson problem, as it might be called, there is a division of counsel.

It appears now that the solution will be a formal appearance first, perhaps on television, immediately after or soon after his return, in which Mr. Stevenson would report his observations abroad and appeal to all our people to unite on foreign policy, regardless of party.

That would still leave open the field of domestic policy in which the Democrats already have found much to criticize in the Eisenhower regime. For his treatment of that, the party leader would have as his forum subsequently a giant party rally, a combined political jamboree and money-raising enterprise which, as a matter of fact, already is being planned for September, in Chicago, making it a homecoming affair with a Midwest background.

Whatever is done, you may be sure it will, in the end, represent the best judgment of the former governor of Illinois himself, who demonstrated during the campaign that he is perhaps his own best campaign manager.

Mr. Stevenson's personal political problem and that of his party as it relates to him will just begin when he gets back home. Everybody seems to agree that it was most wise that he was away while the new administration was feeling its way.

Those interested in Adlai Stevenson's renomination feel that the best course is one of restraint, with no pressing—to borrow a term from golf.

Dr. Brittain Was True Trail-Blazer For Better Georgia School System

Atlanta—In the passing of Dr. M. L. Brittain many tributes, editorially and otherwise have been paid him, the majority of which, however, have dealt with his 22 years of service as president of Georgia Tech.

It must be remembered that his election to this position was predicated upon the marvelous record that he had made in the previous positions which he had held, mainly that of state superintendent of schools from 1911 to 1922, to which he was first appointed by Gov. Joseph E. Brown because, as he stated, he was the best qualified person.

In this position Dr. Brittain moved to reorganize the entire state school system through progressive legislation; and during his administration Dr. P. P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education, stated publicly that he was one of the most progressive and efficient state school superintendents in the nation.

Perhaps no state official was ever held in higher esteem by the people whom he served than was Dr. Brittain.

Huff House Would Make City a Beautiful Shrine

Atlanta—The old Huff House, 70 Huff Rd., N. W., should be restored and honored because (1) it is the oldest house in Atlanta; (2) it is an historic landmark that tourists who seek something connected with "Gone With the Wind" can enjoy; (3) because of its view of the city; (4) because it is a fair sample of antebellum Southern homes, having been built in 1830; (5) because it is directly connected with that critical episode in which Gen. Jos. E. Johnston was relieved of his command and replaced by Gen. John B. Hood, in the Civil War.

Preservation of the Huff House would be an asset to Atlanta as it would make a beautiful shrine.

Shadows Begin to Lengthen And Assets Are Reappraised

East Point—Harold Martin's recent "Women Can Cause a Man a Lot of Trouble Even When He's Only 11 Years Old," made this old-timer heave a nostalgic sigh.

Growing up and trying to be a person is an awful trying experience when a boy is at the sap-rising age. Looking back, I can remember what a trying time it was for an awkward, barefoot boy with warts which made me bashful with girls. But my eyes were always butterflying from one pretty girl to another.

I have reached the age that when I wink at a pretty girl she thinks I have something in my eye. However, my wife is still beautiful, because around her eyes are traces of old smiles. As the shadows lengthen, the fevers of the blood die down; we reappraise our assets of love and companionship and find them priceless.

No One Is Sure How Fast Russians Are Going in Race for Atom Power

WASHINGTON—How far the Russians have advanced in the development of atomic weapons has again become a matter of discussion as a result of statements recently made by former members of our own Atomic Energy Commission.

The effect has been to raise further doubts in the minds of many Americans as to whether there is any final evidence that the Russians actually have an atomic bomb.

Former President Truman started a wave of uncertainty on the subject by his statement of last January, six days after leaving the White House, in which he said, by way of setting the record straight, that he was unconvinced that the Russians had the A-bomb.

No one, of course, was in better position than he to have all the inside information. He was not convinced, he said, that the Russians had achieved the know-how to put the complicated mechanism together to make one of the deadly weapons.

Subsequently, Gen. Leslie Groves, director of our atomic bomb operations in the last war, had this to say: "All we know is there were indications of nuclear explosions in Russia. That does not prove that they have the bomb in workable form."

Eisenhower was drawn into the discussion and later made this statement: "We have incontrovertible evidence that Soviet Russia possesses atomic weapons."

He was supported by Gordon Dean, retiring chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, who said that on the basis of the three atomic explosions known to have taken place in Russia since the summer of 1949, together with "other scientific and technical evidence," he had "no doubt of the existence of a supply of atomic weapons in the U. S. S. R."

More recently, Dean made a statement indicating the United States has been relying heavily on reports from intelligence sources within Russia for its infomation about Soviet atomic progress, rather than "scientific and technical evidence" which he had stressed heretofore.

About the same time J. Robert Oppenheimer, wartime head of the Los Alamos laboratory that perfected the A-bomb, wrote an article for Foreign Affairs magazine in which he declared his own "guess" is that Russia is about four years behind the United States in development of the bomb, thus indicating a belief that Russia has at least some bombs of the earlier type.

What gives added zest to the matter is the fact that there have been no announcements of Russian atomic explosions since October, 1951, almost two years ago. During this period the United States has set off at least 28 atomic blasts and Britain has exploded her first atomic bomb. The only thing that has come out of Russia on the subject has been propaganda. It has been enough to raise serious doubts on the score.

The thing that is puzzling about it all is the failure of the Russians to set off more experimental explosions if, as some of our experts profess to believe, they are accumulating a stockpile of the bombs. It just does not make sense that they would be producing the bombs in any number without testing a few of them as they go along. And we have had no announcement of such a test for nearly two years.

Total Surrender Is the Only Way

The climax in Jesus' stories of the man finding the buried treasure and in the merchant finding the pearl of great price is the eagerness with which each possessed their discoveries. Each, when he made the discovery, "went and sold all that he hath" (Matt. 13:44, 46). Each did it joyfully. Neither felt he was making any sacrifice because the treasure he was possessing was worth much more than what he had to offer for it.

Jesus said the kingdom of heaven is like that. Once we see what it is worth to have God in our hearts, to have His spirit empower our lives, to follow His will, we realize that no matter what the cost, we want God above and beyond all things else.

We sometimes think of religion in terms of sacrifice, duty and self-denials and decide the price is too high. But when we really glimpse the glory of God, the price we pay becomes nothing.

The disciples "left all to follow Him." Paul surrendered all he had thought so highly of, saying, "But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ" (Phil. 3:7). Again and again Augustine prayed, "Make me pure . . . but not now." Certain sins he was not ready to part with. Later after he did possess Christ, he cried, "What I feared to be parted from was now a joy to surrender."

In each instance both men immediately possessed their treasures. They did not wait until a later time. There awaits each of us the "exceeding riches of His grace." . . . "The unsearchable riches of Christ." Our spiritual poverty can be taken away at once.

But if we wait until we resolve every intellectual doubt, we will never have it. When we possess Christ, our doubts are then gone. We need not wait for moral reform. That, too, will come when He comes.

A man was in to see me recently saying, "More than anything else, I want the peace of God in my heart." I replied, "When you really want Him more than anything, you shall immediately have Him."

Finally, look at two fascinating young men we see walking along the pages of the New Testament. One was stoned to death by a mob. He was young and full of life but even as he died he was able to "look steadfastly into heaven, and saw the glory of God." He prayed for those who stoned him. Even the stones of a mob could not take the peace out of his heart. (Acts 7:55, 59.)

The other was rich, young and a ruler. He wanted the life that Christ could offer, but he did not want it badly enough. There was some "one thing" he would not surrender. So he turns and goes away.

Truly the kingdom of God is like unto treasure—the supreme treasure of treasures. When we see that, joy and peace shall be ours—but not until then.

His Name Was Writ in Stone

Climbing a cemetery wall, peering over the top and finding your own name on a tombstone is facing up to a cold, hard fact. It happened to Sidney Smith of Gainesville, insurance executive, former Rotary governor, gentleman and student of history. A long time ago, when Sid Smith was 22 and only recently come into rightful title to a sheepskin from the University of Georgia, he was steeped in it. History, that is. He couldn't wait to get to Virginia and to that cradle of liberty, the James River peninsula. He wanted to peek through the slats. He wanted to stand where Patrick Henry stood for "liberty or death." He wanted to bow his head reverently where George Washington and Tom Jefferson once bowed theirs. That would be at Bruton Parish Church in Williamsburg.

Sid Smith was eager to see that historic house of worship, so eager in fact he didn't bother about the convenient approach. Instead, he scaled the churchyard wall. When he did, he came face-to-inscription with a gravestone. The name chiseled thereon: "Sidney Smith."

When the history-minded young Georgian came out of shock, he learned that the FFV fourth generation Sidney Smith was practicing law near Jamestown. Later, the man became a judge. But the Gainesville Sid never did get to meet the Virginia Sidney, he whose great-great-grandfather sleeps in the old churchyard at Bruton Parish.

What makes the incident remarkable is that never in his life had the man with the camera met the man with the noted knack for remembering.

Blast Red Divisions, Indo Officials Urge

More U. S. Arms Sought By French for New Push

French in the form of a clear promise that eventually they do mean to give the Associated States their independence (not "independence within the French Union" but independence — period).

5. Finally, even if all these things are done — and everybody seems to agree that all must be done if the Allied policy is to succeed — there is little chance of victory for at least two more years.

This is not a happy prospect, but even the French, who have to carry the burden in the unhealthy and infested jungles and swamps of this peninsula, know that there is no escape from these unpleasant facts by delay or negotiation.

There is no stable military line here as in Korea. The enemy is fore and aft and all around—even down here in the Southern capital. Officials of all the nations primarily concerned concede that if Indochina were to go, nothing would halt the Chinese Communists short of the subcontinent of India, and probably not even there. So, despite the mutterings in France about a negotiated truce in Indochina as in Korea, it is taken for granted here that even if the French started negotiations, the defections to the enemy would be staggering and the loss of the whole peninsula very likely.

This is not a war of position. There is no dividing 38th Parallel here. The French, for example, are supposed to "hold" the Tonkin Delta, but the soldiers of the two sides in that area are all mixed up like opposing football teams on the kick-off. The French have a lot of forts all around the perimeter of the delta—there is a lot of critical talk here about "Maginot Line mentality"—but these forts merely hold the main communications roads and they command them only during the day.

Most of the area between the roads is full of rice paddies through which the Communists travel at night. The Vietminh are in command of a great many of the villages inside the line of French forts. Similarly in the south the French are supposed to be in control, but the main road between Saigon and the sea is closed to civilian traffic.

This war has been going on for nearly eight years. Indochina is a country of 26,000,000 inhabitants. France and the Associated States claim that they control areas which hold all but 11,000,000 of these. The non-Communist troops are well equipped. They have absolute superiority in the air.

Nevertheless, one gets divided answers to the question here: Are the allies making progress? And even those, including the United States' own efficient mission under Ambassador Donald R. Heath, who says that progress is definitely being made, still insist that something is seriously wrong.

BIRMINGHAM, England, July 15 — (AP) — Mrs. Mary Burgers, wife of Dutch-born hairdresser Ernst Burgers, won a divorce on cruelty grounds here today. She said her husband once nagged her for five days and nights without stopping.

She also alleged her husband told her "I can't understand an Englishman giving way to his wife in anything. In Holland the man is boss."

Stanley Gets Landslide In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va., July 15 —(AP) Virginia Democrats showed signs today of getting down to business promptly in an effort to translate Thomas B. Stanley's one-sided primary victory into election in November as the next governor of Virginia.

Sidney Kellam, who managed the campaign for the furniture manufacturer and former congressman, said the State Democratic Central Committee doubtlessly would be called soon to plan a campaign against the strongest Republican threat in years.

The Democratic nomination, won by Stanley yesterday with an almost two to one margin over State Sen. Charles R. Fenwick, customarily has been tantamount to victory in the November general election.

But this time it is generally agreed that the Republicans have one of their best chances in years to capture the governorship with a ticket headed by GOP national committeeman Ted Dalton.

Stanley, the favorite of most members of the Democratic organization headed by Senator Byrd, defeated his organization rival, Fenwick, by 141,399 to 73,616 on the basis of unofficial, near complete returns from the state's 1,816 polling places.

$75 Million Tobacco Market Opens Today

The annual outpouring of tobacco gold will begin Thursday in Georgia and Florida and continue until the farmers have pocketed around $75,000,000.

The opening of the flue-cured markets is the earliest in history and at first aroused bitter antagonism, especially since the crop is regarded a little late. Lately, however, it has become more acceptable, some tobacco men actually favoring it.

The total cash return for the cigarette type tobacco is of course problematical but many observers expect it not to be too far out of line with last season. The gross turnover then was 88½ million dollars, just a few hundred thousand down from the all-time high of nearly 89 million the season before. Figuring off resales, growers' receipts were about 8 million less than the gross figure each year.

FEVERISH ACTIVITY

All week feverish activity has marked each of the 19 markets in Georgia and four in Florida. Growers and other tobacco men have bestirred themselves to heap tobacco high on the warehouse floors for the sales opening. A small army of buyers and other tobacco visitors have moved in.

The selling day has been lengthened from five hours to five and a half to allow a set of buyers to handle 2,200 baskets of up to 300 pounds each daily, an increase of 200. Taken for the whole season of some five weeks, this sales stepup will add a sizeable tonnage to total volume.

Belt-wide production is estimated at slightly more than 150 million pounds, off only fractionally from last season.

TRADE FLOURISHES

The swapping of tobacco for dollars perennially is a signal for top-gear activity in all fields. All over the belt, business of all kinds flourishes as does entertainment and social activity.

There is naturally plenty of settling up of accounts for fertilizers and other supplies. This in itself adds body to the business structure and there is always plenty of dollars left over to give trade a terrific shot in the arm.

The burning question in the mind of every tobacco man is what the price will be. All in all, the outlook is favorable, although the average may be somewhat off from last season's all-time high of $49.20 gross and $49.40 to the growers.

PRICE OFF

The government loan support price is off nearly $3 a hundred from last season at an average of $42.90 for the belt's untied tobacco. Observers are quick to point out that this need not be a ruling price factor. Quality and demand, they explain, are more significant.

Some growers report the highest quality in 10 years. The demand picture is not too unsatisfactory with domestic cigarette consumption still climbing and the foreign market showing recent strength.

Whatever the demand is, domestic or foreign, the Georgia-Florida growers get the first shot at it. Their marketing season leads the procession of flue-cured belts.

THE SILENT WORLD UNDER THE SEA

Blood Flows Emerald Green In Shadowed Depths of Ocean

By CAPT. J. Y. COUSTEAU
WITH FREDERIC DUMAS

Another installment from the book, THE SILENT WORLD UNDER THE SEA, Harper & Bros.

CHAPTER XI

The constantly changing colors of the sea were studied by our Undersea Research Group.

As we aqualunged down to 300 feet, we took with us color charts with squares of pure red, blue, yellow, green, purple and orange, with a range of grays from white to black. We photographed the chart at various levels down to the twilight zone.

At 15 feet, red turned pink, at 40 feet it became virtually black. There, also, orange disappeared. At 120 feet yellow began to turn green . . . ultraviolet penetrated quite deeply . . . infra-red rays were totally absorbed in inches of water.

One time we were hunting under the isolated rocks of La Cassidaigne in the Mediterranean. Twenty fathoms down Didi shot an 80-pound liche. The harpoon entered behind the head but missed the spinal column. The animal was well hooked but full of fight.

It swam away, towing Didi on his 30-foot line. When it went down, he held himself crosswise to cause a drag. When the fish climbed, Didi streamlined himself behind it and kicked his flippers to encourage ascent.

DEEP SEA DUEL

The liche fought on, untiringly. It was still struggling as we drew near the depletion of our air supply. Dumas hauled himself forward on the line. The fish circled him at a fast, wobbling speed, and Dumas spun with it to avoid being wound up in the line the way Tashtego was lashed to Moby Dick. Dumas hauled in the last feet of cord, and got a grip on the harpoon shaft. He flashed his belt dagger and plunged it into the heart of the big fish. A thick puff of blood stained the water.

The blood was green. Stupefied by the sight, I swam close and stared at the mortal stream pumping from the liche's heart. It was the color of emeralds. Dumas and I looked at each other wildly. We had swum among the great liches as aqualungers and taken them on goggle dives, but we never knew there was a type with green blood.

Flourishing his astounding trophy on the harpoon, Didi led the way to the surface. At 55 feet the blood turned dark brown. At 20 feet it was pink. On the surface it flowed red.

Once I cut my hand seriously 150 feet down and saw my blood flow green. I was already feeling a slight attack of "rapture of the deep." To my half-hallucinated brain, green blood seemed like a clever trick of the sea. I thought of the liche and managed to convince myself that my blood was really red.

EXPLOSION OF COLOR

In 1948 we took light into the twilight zone. At high noon in clear water Dumas went down with an electric lamp, as powerful as a movie "sunlight," with a cord to the surface. Although our eyes could well distinguish the blue forms of the twilight, we wanted to see the real colors of the place.

Didi trained his reflector on the reef wall 160 feet down. He snapped the light on. What an explosion!

The beam exposed a dazzling harlequinade of color dominated by sensational reds and oranges, as opulent as a Matisse. The living hues of the twilight zone appeared for the first time since the creation of the world. We swam around hastily, feasting our eyes. The fish themselves could never have seen this before. Why were these rich colors placed where they could not be seen? Why were the colors of the deep the reds that were first to be filtered out in the top layers? What are the colors further down, where no light has ever penetrated?

Sunlight under the sea loses intensity as its energy is transformed to heat. Light is further diffused by particles suspended in the water, mud, sand and plankton and even by the water molecule itself.

The particles are like motes in a sunbeam, reducing visibility and scattering the light supply before it can reach the great depths. The voids are black, like interplanetary space where no floating particles reflect the light of the sun.

LIGHT FROM FLOOR

In clear water it seems very dark 100 feet down, but when the diver reaches the bottom it becomes half-bright again because the light reflects from the floor.

At the 300-foot limit of aqualung diving there is usually enough light to work by and often to expose black-and-white photographs. Dr. William Beebe and others have measured light penetration to 1,500 feet.

Not only does water transparency vary from place to place, but from level to level.

Once we made a dive to a submerged rock needle in the Mediterranean. The water was so turbid we could see only a few yards. Two fathoms down the water suddenly opened in a clear layer, going down some distance. Then came a 15-foot layer of milky water with about five-foot visibility. Under the milk was a clear world all the way to the bottom.

The fish were lively and abundant in the shaded but very clear depths. Above us the foggy layer looked like a low overcast on a rainy day. Often on deep dives we pass through alternate layers of turbidity and clarity, puzzling in their dynamics.

Revolt Strips Hoffman Of Special Probe Power

House Unit Members Restrict Inquiries to Subcommittees

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The House government operations committee rebelled against Chairman Hoffman (Rep., Mich.) today and voted to strip him of authority to appoint special investigating subcommittees.

Hoffman said the revolt would block his investigation of alleged labor racketeering in Kansas City, Detroit and elsewhere, as well as an inquiry into public housing in the Los Angeles area. He protested that "this kills off everything."

Hoffman said the rebellion stemmed from his action in cutting back the activities of the committee's regular subcommittees, whose Republican chairmen want to go ahead with their own investigations.

19 PROBES SLATED

One of these, headed by Representative Bender (Rep., Ohio), has 19 investigations scheduled or under way.

Hoffman said the vote on the 30-man committee was 23 to 1 against him. He said two committee members, Representatives Hillelson (Rep., Mo.) and Condon (Dem., Calif.), voted "present" and that his own vote was the only one in support of his stand.

Hoffman complained the regular subcommittees piled up "unjustifiable" expense accounts and were planning inquiries into subjects already investigated. He said the new studies "could be construed as attacks on the administration."

AGAINST EXPOSURE

Three administration officials had asked the committee to turn over anything it found to the proper administration officials for correction rather than expose it in public hearings. Informed sources said the request was made by Agriculture Secretary Benson, Budget Director Dodge and Atty.-Gen. Brownell.

Both Republicans and Democrats engaged in the revolt against Hoffman.

Anti-Hoffman sentiment has been mounting within the House committee as a result of the chairman's setting up special subcommittees to launch what members denounced as "quickie" investigations. They said the inquiries should have been conducted by the regular subcommittees.

Particularly at issue were recent investigations into Los Angeles public housing and labor troubles in Kansas City, Detroit and other Michigan cities.

LONDON, July 15—(INS) John R. Christie, confessed sex slayer of seven women, was hanged today at gloomy Pentonville prison.

The 55-year-old "Notting Hill" killer spent his last night on earth playing checkers with a guard.

Prison officials said the execution was "carried out expeditiously and in a proper manner" and that Christie appeared to have died quickly.

West Frames Emergency Steps To Feed 18 Million East Germans

By DAN DE LUCE

BERLIN, July 15 (AP)—The West muffled in secrecy tonight the next steps it will take to help feed East Germany's 18 million people.

East Germany's state-monopolized food supplies are critically short. The summer harvest prospects are poor.

West German Vice Chancellor Franz Bluecher flew back to Bonn from Berlin tonight with a full agreement among officials concerning emergency relief measures for the Soviet zone.

These will be submitted to the Bonn Cabinet at a meeting tomorrow for quick implementation.

The West has already dealt the Soviet Union a psychological blow by President Eisenhower's offer of 15 million dollars worth of American food as a gift to East Germany. Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov denounced this as "an insult."

LIVES AT STAKE

Now most Western officials want to get the aid question out of politics—where the Russians and East German Communists are fearful of losing face—and to send off the food, if at all possible, without propaganda flourishes.

German lives are at stake.

The next few days may tell whether the Communists will go to extreme lengths to stop any and all aid from entering the Soviet zone. The available relief channels which do not affect Red governmental prestige are individual gift packages through interzonal mails and charitable activities of the Protestant and Catholic churches.

It is obvious that such channels will be explored by Western Germans to the limit of their possibilities. But no daily communiques on food deliveries can be expected.

The United States apparently is cast now for a background role. This does not mean, however, that it will not be helping.

The relief spotlight tonight was still on a borough mayor in West Berlin who in two days had fed 10,000 East Germans on the Iron Curtain border.

From German private donations and city relief funds, Mayor Willy Kressmann dispensed 2,500 pounds of potatoes and 2,000 liters of milk at Oranienplatz today.

"The whole East thanks you," cried a 70-year-old woman who had crossed through a Communist police frontier point.

At Kressmann's order, the food was sold at a fifth of its normal price to all comers with East German immunity cards.

Their nearly worthless East marks were accepted at par with the West mark, although the regular exchange rate is 5.8 to 1.

Even one Communist woman trade inspector on the border was observed buying in the market after finishing her shift.

FARM HANDS CALLED

The official Soviet newspaper, Taegliche Rundschau, bannerlined East Germany's agricultural crisis today: "The Harvest Demands All Forces." It said many thousands of "volunteers" — housewives, school children, factory workers, and party officials—had gone out to help on farms since Premier Otto Grotewohl issued a desperate appeal Monday for harvest hands.

Grotewohl's government was under increasing strain as reports from Moscow disclosed action against followers of Lavrenty Beria inside the Soviet Union.

Deputy Premier Walter Ulbricht and State Security Minister Wilhelm Zaisser have been tabbed by underground reports as due for liquidation when the Malenkov government's cleanup reaches East Germany.

The anti-Communist League of Free Jurists, one of the best informed organizations here on Soviet zone activities, reported that the son of Communist Justice Minister Max Fechner was arrested last night by Soviet MVD agents at his suburban East Berlin home.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Oliver Wolcott Roosevelt, 60, well-known banker and cousin of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, died tonight of injuries suffered in a five-story fall last night.

Roosevelt, according to police, was the victim of an apparent accident in a fall from a low-silled bedroom window.

Roosevelt was a first cousin once removed of Theodore Roosevelt.

Triple Suicide Try Is Painful Failure

MONTREAL, July 15—(AP)—Police reported a determined suicide attempt today.

Soviet Growing Sensitive To World Opinion---George

By ROSE McKEE

WASHINGTON, July 15—(INS)—Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wis.) warned today that a Korean truce may mean only a Communist strategy switch in what he called the "extremely dangerous" situation in Asia.

Wiley expressed grave concern over the reported massing of Chinese Red troops in an area from which an assault on Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa bastion could be launched. The senator also cited the possibility of a new Communist drive in Indochina when the rainy season ends.

But Wiley agreed with Senator George of Georgia, top Democrat on the foreign relations committee, that from the global standpoint the prospects of averting a third world war are better than they were a year ago.

The senators expressed their views in interviews with International News Service.

George analyzed the developments since the death of Soviet Premier Stalin this way:

"Russia is becoming more and more sensitive to world opinion since Stalin's death. That is the most hopeful sign that we are making progress. During his life, there were few indications that Russia was sensitive to the opinions of others.

"Since Stalin's death, I think there is a consciousness on the part of Russia that there is such a thing as world opinion which they now seem anxious, to a degree at least, to cultivate."

Wiley called the outbreaks of rebellion against Red tyranny in East Germany, Hungary and Czechoslovakia dramatic proof that "the years of effort on the part of the West to keep alive the spirit of freedom has paid off."

George said he could make no flat prediction that world tensions will be eased. He commented: "Although the world seems to be moving in the direction of peace, every time I feel we are making progress, something happens to upset that feeling."

Margaret's Beau In Belgium Early –No Room Ready

BRUSSELS, July 15—(AP)—A handsome British airman named as Princess Margaret's beau arrived from London today so suddenly the British embassy was taken by surprise and had no place for him to stay.

Group Capt. Peter Townsend came to take up his duties as British air attache to Belgium two days before the Princess was scheduled to return to London from Africa. He has been equerry to Queen Elizabeth in Buckingham Palace.

When Townsend hopped out of his car and entered the embassy, he found officials had not been informed of his arrival and no quarters had been reserved for him.

Queen Spots U. S. Uniform; She, Wearer Are Neighbors

OLDHAM, England, July 15—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth II, like many another English girl, has an eye for an American uniform.

She spotted one today as her car toured the ranks of airmen lined up here for her coronation review of the Royal Air Force.

The car stopped. The Queen stepped out and soon she was talking to Capt. Michael Evanco, a navigator serving with the RAF under an Anglo-American exchange scheme.

Evanco, of Sarasota, Fla., was standing before one of Britain's record-setting Canberra jet bombers.

"Do you fly in one of these?" asked the Queen.

"No," said Evanco. He explained he flies in a Washington, the RAF version of the U. S. B29.

Evanco told the Queen he has been with the RAF a year and is stationed at Marham in Norfolk.

"That makes us neighbors," the Queen said.

Her country home is at Sandringham, near Marham Airfield.

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The Army said today a large quantity of mail and packages for military men in Korea was lost yesterday when the freighter Jacob Luckenbach sank after a collision with the freighter Hawaiian Pilot 11 miles off San Francisco.

Shots Ready For 12,000 in Polio Wave

By the United Press

Doctors began inoculating 12,000 more children against polio Wednesday as a wave of the crippling disease swept the North American continent, hitting some areas with epidemic force.

In Catawba County, N. C., the first of the 12,000 children began receiving shots of gamma globulin as health authorities reported the county's third polio death and 54th case this year.

Authorities in Decatur and Macon County in central Illinois, rushed plans to inoculate children against the disease which has struck 15 persons, killing three, among the 70,000 inhabitants of Decatur.

Spokesmen for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said the 100,000th child to receive gamma globulin in the United States will be inoculated sometime during the mass injection program which Illinois authorities expect to begin Friday.

Schools Get $5 Million In State Aid

The State Board of Education approved $5,142,697 state aid Wednesday for $6,276,467 worth of school building construction in nine city and county systems.

Wednesday's approvals were in addition to about $95,000,000 worth of building already being financed through the sale of revenue certificates.

The new approvals are for construction in the Fitzgerald, Moultrie, Americus, West Point and Bremen city systems and the Haralson, Douglas, Jasper and Morgan County systems.

UNIFORM SALARIES

The board also approved uniform state aid salary schedules for superintendents and principals.

After an hour of wrangling over whether the state should or legally could help Fannin County rebuild a burned school building at McCaysville, the board appointed a committee to settle the question after consulting with the attorney general and state budget commission.

Fannin County officials, who were turned down at the June session of the board, are asking for $106,000 in state aid to replace the building, under provisions of a resolution adopted by the board in June.

RESOLUTION RESCINDED

The board decided it had made a mistake in passing the June resolution and voted to rescind it, but the members also expressed the opinion they were obligated to give Fannin County some assistance under provisions of the rescinded resolution.

On request of Rep. Woodrow Lavendar of Elbert County, the board agreed to approve Elbert County's school building program which has been held up pending a proposed merger with the Elberton city system.

After listening to lengthy arguments from Morgan and Edison representatives in a dispute over Calhoun County consolidation, the board ordered the county authorities to study the question more thoroughly and report back in 30 days.

DECISION APPEALED

Edison citizens, represented at the meeting by attorneys Charlie Bloch of Macon and Holcombe Perry of Albany, were appealing a three-to-two decision of the Calhoun County board to consolidate the Edison and Morgan high schools and locate the school at Morgan.

In other actions the board decided against a motion that would have made Department of Education administrative reorganization moves subject to board approval, when State School Supt. M. D. Collins said it would tie his hands.

The building program approvals were: Fitzgerald—$165,000 in state aid for $167,945 worth of construction; Moultrie—$471,767 state aid for $1,104,513 construction; Americus—$315,431 state aid for a $527,000 program; West Point—$267,000 aid for a $305,762 program; Bremen—$261,093 aid for a $227,948 program; Haralson County—$986,239 for a $1,091,000 program; Douglas County—$1,085,986 aid for a $1,182,285 program; Jasper County—$558,852 for a $722,499 program, and Morgan County—$1,031,329 aid for a $947,515 program.

"BLUE ANGELS" COMING

Jets To Fly Here

Navy Jet Aces To Join Show Here July 26

The "Blue Angels," famous Navy jet flight exhibition team, will perform here Sunday, July 26, as featured attraction of an open-house program at the U. S. Naval Air Station.

The four jet aces of the Navy will fly F9F Gruman Panther jet aircraft to demonstrate flight combat tactics. Their 2 p. m. performance will climax a day-long exhibition slanted especially at employers of Naval Reservists in this area.

Employers of the Navy's "week-end warriors" and the public are invited to attend demonstrations stressing the importance of maintaining a strong air reserve.

Aviation exhibits open to the public July 26 will include the Reserve's largest fighter-bomber, the F4U-4, a 3,200-horsepower flighter plane.

The "Blue Angels," who appeared here last year at the Naval Air Station, will go through their maneuvers at altitudes low enough for observers to watch. Ordinarily their tactics are executed at altitudes of 30,000 to 40,000 feet.

The jet team is led by Lt. Cmdr. Arthur Ray Hawkins of Lufkin, Texas. The "Panther" flown by the "Blue Angels" is one of the Navy's newest fighters, a carrier-based jet with a speed greater than 600 miles per hour.

Antique Car Club Slates Celebration

Members of the Southeastern Region, Antique Automobile Club of America, will celebrate formal acceptance of their charter at a dinner meeting at 7 p. m. Saturday at Mammy's Shanty.

Films of "old-time automobiles" will be shown, according to Tommy Protsman, club president. All interested persons are invited.

The recently-organized club, with Atlanta headquarters, already has more than 50 members scattered over Georgia and a few outside the state, Protsman said. It is open to all antique automobile enthusiasts, whether or not they own old cars. Members are interested in restoration and preservation of old automobiles and in their histories.

Protsman said a number of members have early Fords, Maxwells, Cadillacs, electric cars and other types of old automobiles. The clubs staged a July 13 antique automobile parade here and plans "runs" of members' ancient vehicles at forthcoming meetings.

First Graders' Age Limit Eyed

A workshop on school health being held at Emory University has recommended that children admitted to the first grade be six years old by Oct. 1 of the year they start to school.

The workshop, a three-week conference attended by 30 teachers and school nurses June 15 to July 9, was sponsored by the Emory nursing school and the Atlanta Tuberculosis Association.

Government Asks Engineers To Man 100 Jobs Overseas

Want to go to Alaska, the Azores, Newfoundland, Labrador, Iceland, Japan, Libya or French Morocco?

If you're an engineer who knows how to build roads and airstrips, the Federal Government may offer you a job in one of these faraway places, according to Miss Mary Walden, employee utilization representative at the South Atlantic division office of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Miss Walden said the office is trying to fill about 100 jobs paying starting salaries of from $4,205 to $7,040 yearly at these places.

There's even one choice opening in Paris—for a concrete and paving expert. "Imagine! April in Paris!" Miss Walden commented.

Twenty-five of the openings are for young engineers just out of college, and many of them offer extra pay to compensate for having to leave families in the United States, Miss Walden said. Persons who accept the jobs must sign up for one or two years overseas, she added.

Miss Walden's office is at 74 Fairlie St., N .W.

MONEY, MEN and MACHINES

Two noted economic authorities tell you the reasons behind our financial greatness and warn of the dangers threatening our system. How, in such a short span of history, has this nation boosted its living standard way above that of other nations? What factors determine our financial ups and donws? Will we always be a world leader in banking and commerce? These are the questions discussed by business leader Waddill Catchings and economist Charles F. Roos in this vital series.

Will New Senator Break Boycott on M'Carthy Unit?

Democrats' Lennon May Ask Sub-Committee Appointment

WASHINGTON, July 15—(UP)—North Carolina's new senator raised the possibility today that he may break the Democratic boycott of Senator McCarthy's investigating subcommittee by asking to be assigned to the group.

Senator Lennon, who was sworn in as a senator today, said such an assignment would give him a chance to "learn more" about McCarthy who "is a great American in the eyes of many people." He also said he would like to see witnesses get "more consideration" than news stories report they now receive.

Lennon emphasized at a news conference that he will make no definite decision about the request for assignment until he talks with Democratic leaders and the three Democrats who bolted the subcommittee last week.

"But," he said, "my present intention is that I will request it."

McCarthy said he had not met the new senator but "from what I hear, he's an outstanding American; I'd be very glad to have him" on the subcommittee.

Senator McClellan, Arkansas, top-ranking Democrat on the full committee said he also had not met Lennon and repeated his earlier statement—that he will assign any Democrat on the committee who asks for a post on McCarthy's subcommittee.

The 46-year-old attorney and former state senator, who plans to seek a full six-year term in North Carolina's Democratic primary next May, said he would give "every consideration" to the "policy of Democratic leadership in the Senate and House."

"I'm a Democrat but I'm an American before I am a Democrat," he said.

Johnson Hits McCarthy Tactics

WASHINGTON, July 15—(INS)—The retiring chief of the U. S. Information Service charged by implication today that the nation's struggle against communism is being damaged by Senator McCarthy (Rep., Wis.).

Dr. Robert L. Johnson did not mention McCarthy by name, but in a 44-page report, declared it is "one of the tragic ironies of our times . . . that those in the forefront of the fight against communism are among those damaging the programs that do battle against it."

McCarthy is winding up an intensive investigation of the books stocked in U. S. libraries abroad. He has clashed with Johnson in the past over the information programs.

Johnson, who is resigning because of ill health, commented in his report: "One of the great dangers I have sensed during my term of office is that many of our most effective programs in fighting communism are being impaired by unsupported charges that they are somehow soft on communism."

Earlier, McCarthy announced he has abandoned a plan to call ex-President Truman to testify before his Senate investigations committee.

The GOP legislator initially said he wanted to find out whether Truman had turned over to the Justice department a list of alleged Communist spy suspects reportedly given the ex-President by the Canadian government.

McCarthy declared he has been assured by the FBI that Truman did not try to conceal any such list.

Taft Strengthening

NEW YORK, July 15 — (UP) — Senator Taft has felt better each day since he underwent an abdominal operation at New York Hospital a week ago, a hospital bulletin said today. "He slept well (last night) and is eating a full selected diet," the bulletin said.

Indictment Refused

TRENTON, N. J., July 15—(AP) A federal grand jury today rejected a government plea to indict prohibition era figure Abner (Longie) Zwillman on charges of evading $55,114 in income taxes in 1946.

Matthews Ouster Civil Liberty Breach?

WASHINGTON, July 15—(UP)—The American Civil Liberties Union said today Dr. J. B. Matthews' resignation from the staff of Senator McCarthy's senate subcommittee may have violated a civil liberties principle.

Patric Murphy Malin, executive director of the ACLU, said that "pressure" accompanying the offer and acceptance of Matthews' resignation as subcommittee staff director makes it necessary to "call the attention of all concerned against any departure from the due process of fair hearing and considered judgment in arriving at such a decision."

Malin said he realized that in "practical terms" it is now too late to do anything about Matthews, "but we earnestly hope that this vital point will be scrupulously observed hereafter. . . ."

Would Testify Reds Seeped Into Clergy

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—J. B. Matthews today asked the House Un-American Activities Committee for an opportunity to testify before it in support of his charges of Communist infiltration of the clergy.

Matthews resigned last week as staff director of Sen. McCarthy's (R-Wis) Senate investigations subcommittee in the midst of controversy over a magazine article he wrote. One statement in the article was that the largest group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States is composed of Protestant clergymen.

In a letter to Chairman Velde (R-Ill) of the House committee, Matthews said his article was "completely factual and fully documented," and he would so testify if given an opportunity to appear before the group.

Velde told newsmen he would take up Matthews' request with his committee at a meeting next Monday. He declined any other comment.

Solon Asked To Answer 'Risk' Charges

WASHINGTON, July 15—(INS). House majority leader Charles A. Halleck (Rep., Ind.) called on Rep. Robert Condon (Dem., Calif.) to face a full congressional committee probe and answer charges he is a "security risk."

Condon was barred from Atomic Energy Commission tests in Nevada last May on the basis of information supplied the AEC by the FBI. The Californian declared the charges were "warmed-over" political attacks.

Halleck, interviewed on the ABC radio network program, "Crossfire," declared the entire matter should be "aired completely."

"The basic question is whether a member of Congress should be asked by an executive agency to provide proof he is not a security risk. The joint atomic energy committee is investigating to determine if the AEC acted properly in excluding Mr. Condon."

Ford Master-Guide
the last word in Power Steering!

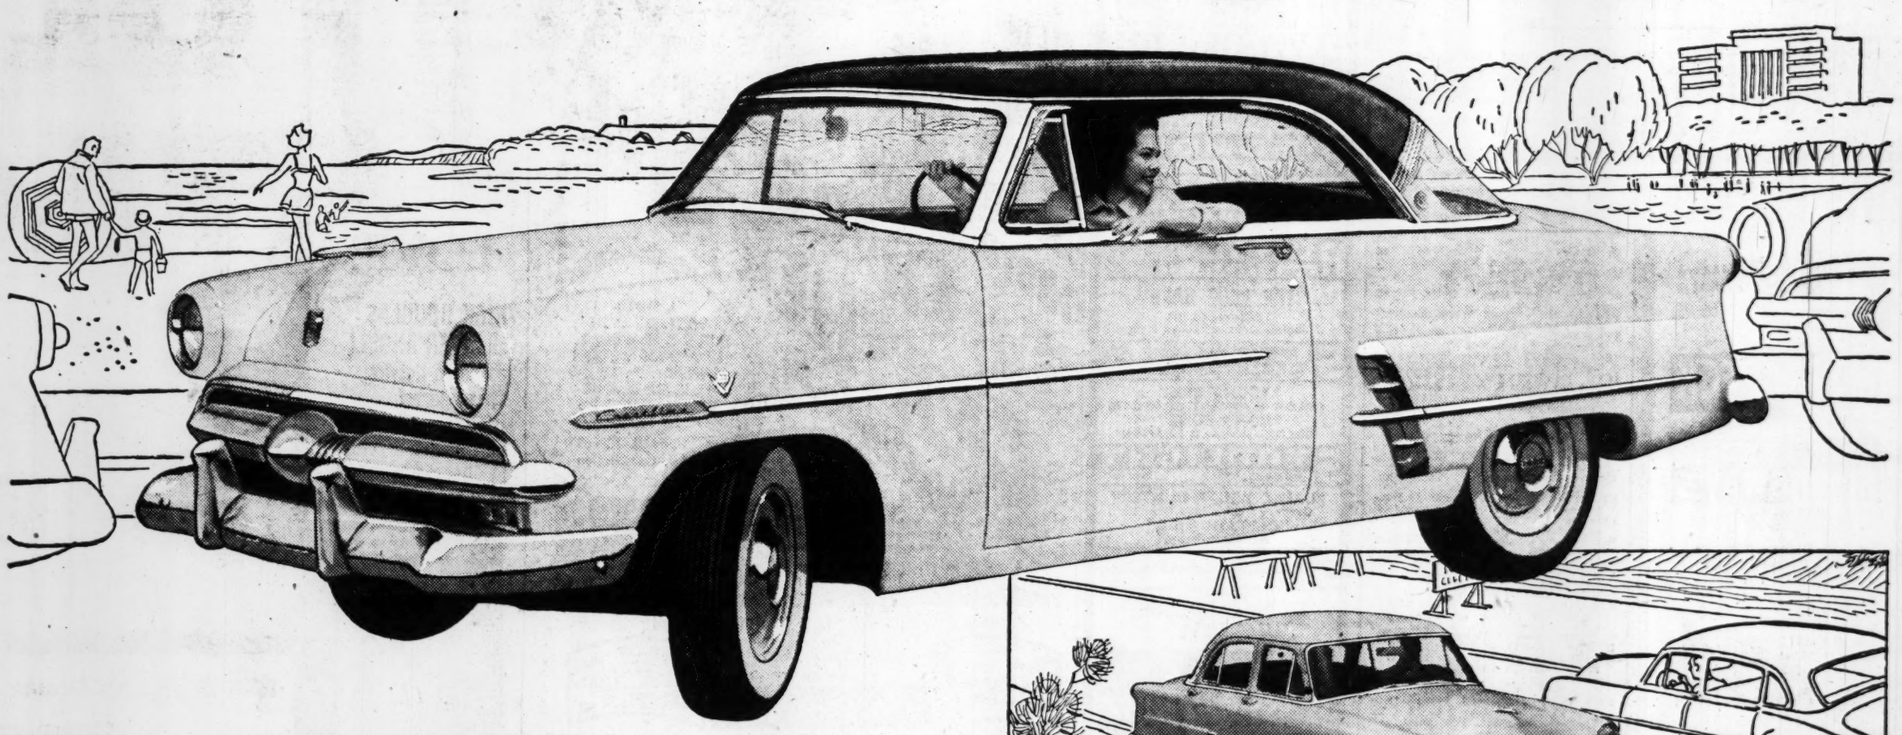
Master-Guide applies hydraulic steering power automatically . . . and in varying degrees as required . . . right at the steering linkage, close to the wheels. At the same time the system serves as a hydraulic shock absorber to keep road jars and jolts from your hands. As a result all you do is . . . guide the car . . . Master-Guide supplies the muscles.



It's the newest in a long list of Ford advancements that make this Ford the outstanding car for '53!

No other car near Ford's price has ever offered you so much!

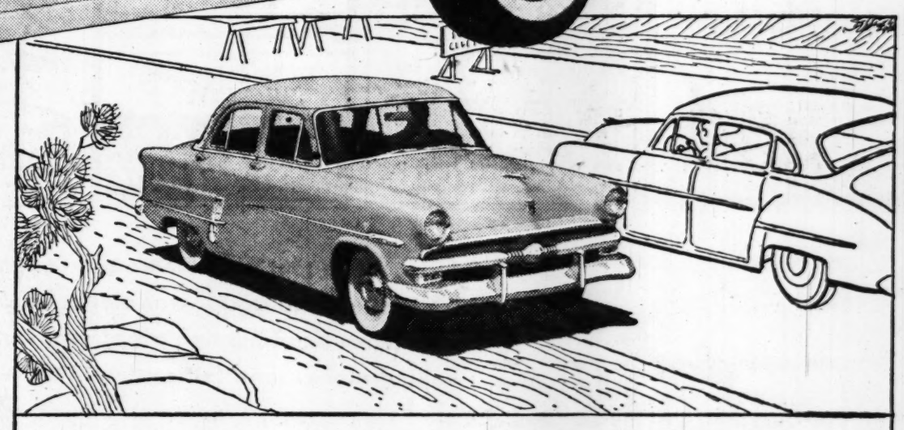
Ford was the first in its field to bring you V-8 power. Today, Ford alone of all the low-priced cars offers you the smooth, unsurpassed performance of a V-8 engine. And Ford's Six—the most modern in the industry—with Overdrive, won the Grand Sweepstakes in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run.

Ford first brought to the low-price field a completely automatic transmission that combines the smoothness of a torque convertor and the gas-saving "go" of automatic gears. Fordomatic remains the most versatile automatic you can buy.

Ford's new "ride" brings you curve-hugging and bump-leveling qualities never before known in low-priced cars. Front end road shock alone has been reduced up to 80%.

Easier-acting suspended pedals, Center-Fill Fueling and Full-Circle Visibility are just a few of the many other important advancements first introduced by Ford.

And now Ford brings you the newest and finest in power steering . . . Master-Guide, a system exclusive in Ford's field! It's no wonder, then, that Ford is the "Worth More" car . . . worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it.



HELPS YOU OUT OF "TIGHT SPOTS!" The tougher the going the more Master-Guide works for you. For example, if you go off the pavement onto a soft shoulder or a rough, rutted road, Master-Guide provides the muscles to keep you on a steady course. At the same time, Master-Guide absorbs the shock that might otherwise be transmitted to the steering wheel. You'll find all handling is easier with Master-Guide and that parking requires only one-fourth the normal effort. Should Master-Guide ever lose its power, the standard steering mechanism will operate just as usual. Thus, Master-Guide provides new ease and stability, with a natural feel and full security, wherever you may drive.

Optional on all V-8 models at extra cost.

Blood Recruitment Drive Starts Monday

An intensive Red Cross blood recruitment campaign, intended to help Greater Atlanta reach its 1953-54 quota of 68,400 pints will start Monday, Dan Haughton, blood service chairman for the Atlanta Red Cross chapter, announced yesterday.

Dan Haughton

"The immediate objective," Mr. Haughton said, "is to bring into active participation the many industries and businesses which up to now have had no part in the program."

A team of fulltime volunteers, their time contributed by their employers, will work for at least four weeks enlisting support for the program and organizing industrial plants and business offices to insure a steady flow of blood.

Clifford Clark, director of employee services at Lockheed, will head the team. It will include representatives from the Ford Motor Co. plant, from Davison's, Scripto, Coca-Cola, Sears, Roebuck and the Trust Company of Georgia.

A preliminary study reveals that of 730 industries and businesses in the area, employing 138,958 persons, only 160 firms have had a part in the blood bank. Of the 160, only 43 companies have 5 percent or better employee participation.

In 1952-53, Atlanta fell 5,339 pints short on a blood quota of 62,400 pints. This year's quota is 6,000 pints greater than that of last year.

"Because other centers in the nation failed, too, in meeting the demand upon them doesn't excuse us," said the Atlanta blood chairman.

"For Atlanta to go over the top this year would bring great honor to our city. With complete co-operation of the community, we feel that we can do that under the new recruitment plan."

Snuff, Says Driver, Explaining Mishap

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 15—(AP)—A slip between the dip and the lip caused an automobile accident and $125 in damages, police reported.

Raymond Rice, 22, told city Ptl. Harry Godwin he was taking a pinch of snuff when the wind blew some of it in his face, causing him to lose control of his car on a street here. Rice's car hit a parked auto, damaging both cars.

Donors To Give Blood During WSB Program

Thursday will be "Blood Donor Day" on WSB.

The Voice of the South will convert its radio studio into a temporary blood donor center between 1 and 2:30 p. m. when a mobile Red Cross unit will be moved into the studio for a unique radio show.

Thirty Atlantans, including four WSB personalities, will donate blood during the show. And two Korean veterans will tell their stories of how blood saves lives on the battlefields. The WSB personalities, Bob Van Camp, Roy McMillan, George Crumbley and Lee Morris, will conduct interviews during the 90-minute show.

Cpl. Joe Cutchens, medical corpsman now stationed at Ft. McPherson, will tell how he gave a transfusion of whole blood to a wounded buddy in Korea and Sgt. George M. Lynch, will tell how he received a battlefield transfusion.

Native Africans Attend Reception of Elizabeth

Mixed Reactions Evidence Political Struggles Ahead

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia, July 15—One of the most remarkable contemporary experiments in human relations was launched yesterday in London by the royal assent to the Central African Federation Act after it had passed the House of Lords.

Associated Press Wirephoto

NOMINATED — WASHINGTON, July 15—Glenn L. Emmons, 57, Gallup, N. M., banker, was nominated Wednesday by President Eisenhower to be commissioner of Indian affairs. The Senate interior affairs committee promptly approved the choice by a unanimous vote. The nomination now goes to the Senate.

The essence of the experiment was expressed here—the capital of Southern Rhodesia, the center of the successful campaign for the federation of the two Rhodesias and Nyassaland—in the reaction to the presence of a considerable group of native Africans, who were presented at the governor general's reception for Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret yesterday evening. Most of them were not tribal chiefs representing the old Africa but modern Africans—teachers and other "intellectuals."

STRUGGLE PRESAGED

The open hostility to their presence on the part of one section of white Rhodesian opinion and the marked approval expressed by the other reflected the years of political struggle ahead in central Africa and the chances for the federation's eventual successors.

There were about 1,500 fairly well bemedaled Rhodesians at the reception, and they represented, politically, financially or intellectually, the elements that will be instrumental in the federation's future. A solid bloc of them took the attitude that African chiefs in their tribal regalia might have been all right, but they frankly resented the recognition granted to Negro "intellectuals" in European clothing. The other section of the whites was equally firm in their attitude to this "Sahib" attitude.

FEDERALS APPROVE

A circumstance much commented on here is that the two parties now emerging as political organizations have the same names that designated the contending sides in the American Civil War, the Federals and the Confederates.

Roughly speaking, the Federals approved the gesture of recognition extended to the modern Africans and the Confederates did not. The Federals are led by men responsible for Central African Federation—Sir Godfrey Huggins of Southern Rhodesia and Sir Roy Welensky of Northern Rhodesia.

The royal tour of Southern Rhodesia, which will end when the party leaves by jet airliner for London tomorrow morning, has been a concrete demonstration of the Federal thesis, for it is the Federals who are in power in this self-governing colony, and British royalty, here as elsewhere, acts on the advice of the cabinet in power. The Queen Mother and Princess Margaret have seen a great deal of the native Africans en masse and individually, and the point has been emphasized that the natives are full subjects of the crown and that the crown is indifferent to the color of their skins.

How sincere the Federals will prove to be in the future is a subject of much debate, but they have established a principle and a precedent. Their doctrine is partnership, based on the contention that the natives, whose culture is backward, will do better that way than on their own. There will be European leadership in the foreseeable future, but essential equality of opportunity regardless of race.

The whites made Cecil Rhodes, who founded the Rhodesias, their hero and cite, like a quotation from scripture, his slogan on equality of all "civilized men."

Federation has been obtained on the basis of this principle despite grave doubts felt in Britain about placing the central African colonies on a road to eventual dominion status that might lead to a policy based on a racial caste system, in imitation of the neighboring Union of South Africa.

ATLANTAN HEADS WHITEHOUSE CALLERS—WASHINGTON, July 15—Among President Eisenhower's callers Wednesday was a delegation of Masons headed by Charles N. Walker of Atlanta, president of the National League of Masonic Clubs. Seated are the President and Walker. Standing (L to R): Joseph Montgomery, Cliffside Park, N. J.; John K. Collins, Hoboken, N. J.; George Baker, Woodbridge, N. J., and Robert Mitchell, Norwood, Mass. 9 Parachute To Safety in The Pacific

SAN DIEGO, Calif, July 15 (AP)—A huge 4-engine flying boat carrying a crew of nine crashed into the ocean west of San Diego today. All crew members parachuted to the water and were rescued.

Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp., which built the 64-ton craft for the Navy, said the plane was flying at about 10,000 feet when it plunged to the water. It sank soon after.

Cause of the crash was not known. A Convair spokesman said no explosion or fire occurred.

Coast Guard air-sea rescue planes and surface craft were dispatched to the crash scene, about six miles west of San Diego.

Five crewmen, all of whom were Convair employes, were picked up by Coast Guard helicopters, two by a PBM seaplane and two by a crash boat. They suffered bruises, shock and immersion.

A witness said the flying boat "made two dives, came out of the first one and then went almost straight down."

Japs Apologize To Flies, Launch Extermination

TOKYO, July 15—(AP)—The town of Hiro, near Hiroshima, launched a "fly-extermination" campaign today after asking the intended victims to "accept in manly fashion the inevitable consequence of your being born in this world as flies."

In the presence of Mayor J. Suzuki and high-ranking officials from the Hiroshima prefecture government, a black-robed Buddhist priest intoned:

"Dear flies, we always wish to live amicably with all creatures in this world. It is therefore really to be regretted that you do nothing but harm to man and that we have in consequence to exterminate you to the last member of your species.

"Dear flies, have no rancor against us for killing you but accept in manly fashion the inevitable consequence of your being born in this world as flies."

All Pro-West Cabinet For De Gasperi Okayed

ROME, Italy, July 15—(AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi completed a new Cabinet today composed entirely of his own pro-Western Christian Democratic Party members.

The 72-year-old statesman, who reluctantly took the job of forming his eighth consecutive government after the recent elections, presented the list to Italy's President Luigi Einaudi, who immediately approved it.

The new government will be sworn in tomorrow.

De Gasperi's lineup contained only eight members of his seventh cabinet and had a relatively unknown and youthful Christian Democrat in the important job of defense minister. Ten members of the old cabinet were dropped.

Self-Support Policy Ruled For Indians

GALLUP, N. M., July 15—(AP)—Glenn Emmons, Gallup banker nominated today to be Indian commissioner, has declared his administration policy will be to "liquidate the trusteeship of Indians as quickly as possible."

Emmons, 57, has lived all his life in the southwest Indian country.

He long has advocated putting the Indian tribes on a self-supporting basis. His ideas on this objective now are called the "Emmons Plan."

Key ideas in his plan are to reclaim land, wherever possible, and to promote tribal industries. The land reclamation would make the best possible use of water resources so agrarian Indians could remain on their homelands, produce food for themselves and livestock for market.

The tribal industry idea would train Indians in skilled work and make jobs.

As Indian commissioner, Emmons has said, he would push government efforts in health and education to achieve self-supporting status.

Emmons cautions, however, that in promoting self-sufficiency the government must not pull out and leave "unprepared" Indians to fend for themselves.

Africa Manganese Find Held U.S. Cold War Boon

NEW YORK, July 15—(INS)—Discovery of rich deposits of manganese in French Equatorial Africa was disclosed today and U. S. government officials said the find gives the Free World a potential strategic victory of vast importance in the cold war with Russia.

The discovery was revealed by the U. S. Steel Corp., which will share in mining the manganese—an ore essential in manufacturing steel.

In the view of government officials and mining geological experts the African deposit is of such magnitude — estimated at 50,000,000 tons—that for the first time it should make the United States completely independent of Soviet Russia as a source of supply for manganese.

Up to now Russia has controlled the world's richest known supply of manganese ores.

And since 1948, apparently as part of its strategy in the cold war, Russia has permitted the United States to purchase almost none of its manganese.

U. S. Steel Corp. spokesmen were inclined, officially, to minimize the importance of the African discovery, but defense mobilization officials in Washington readily conceded its world-wide significance.

Heir Found By Publicity After Slaying

MANDAN, N. D., July 15—(AP)—Mrs. Edward Crane, wife of a burly farmhand accused of slaying the New Salem, N. D., police chief, was disclosed today to be the sole heir to about $3,000 left by her late father.

Mrs. Crane, who had lost track of her family in Connecticut, learned of the inheritance after her husband gained notoriety in the slaying of Police Chief Ed Mumby, 53, at New Salem, last Saturday night.

Her father died at Clinton, Conn., without leaving a will, but Mrs. Crane was said to be his sole heir. For the last four years an uncle had been seeking her.

Mrs. Crane told authorities she had been following her husband, an itinerant farm worker, around the country and had lost touch with her family.

Crane, accompanied by his wife and five children, allegedly shot Mumby to death after becoming enraged at a one-cent sales tax he was asked to pay in New Salem. He is held on a murder charge.

The Joy of Hitting

For what it's worth: All the Crackers needed, they said, was some good pitching and they'd be knocking for the flag. They're knocking, and yet the only real, solid pitching job they've had in the last week was Art Fowler's 3-2 night in Mobile. The hitters have fired the boiler. . . . Until he signed with Shreveport, ex-Cardinal ace Max Lanier had pitched only one-third of an inning below the triple-A leagues. . . . And whatever became of Fiddler Bill McGee?

The golfing Bauer sisters, who have tried to make a career on exhibitions, are losing their gate appeal. It's necessary to win tournaments to stay attractive to the people who pay the exhibition buck. The Bauers not only don't win. They don't participate, and their fee had dropped from $600 to $300, and will go lower, unless. . . . Clemson reports a mysterious enthusiasm in Tiger football advance sale for a team that was 2-6-1 in '52. The demand is even greater than in the aftermath of the Orange Bowl victory. . . . Mort Cooper, who used to duel Whit Wyatt to the death in Card-Dodger wars of the early '40s, is seriously ill in a St. Louis hospital.

Bisher

From a second-division soapbox, Casey Stengel's quotes would qualify him as a laughing stock. Fact is, if the guy were quoted word for word, a grammarian would have to be called in to make sense of the jabbering. . . . His critics won another verdict when Allie Reynolds was socked with the all-star defeat and Satch Paige surrendered a run while Ed Lopat (9-1), Frank Shea (8-1) and Mel Parnell (12-4) had the day off. . . . Name of the week: Lesbia Lobo, one of Texas' new rising lady golfers.

Worst deal of the year, to the moment, will have to be charged to the usually close-vested Washington Griffiths, who gave up kid Cuban Mike Fornieles for Chuck Stobbs. Fornieles, just 22, now stands 7-2 as one of the Sox bell-ringers and Stobbs (3-5) has beat only the Athletics. . . . When a network put a bout for a California state title on national TV last week, it severely exposed television's ravenous hunger for any sort of crumbs to throw the watchbirds. . . . The Tri-State League managed to pick two all-star teams without including Kirby Higbe.

Newest addition to the league of cigarette hucksters: Ed Mathews. He made his debut in the puff-puff league this week, holding his fag aloft quite niftily on the back page of The Sporting News. . . . When somebody mistakenly passed a bottle of beer to Taylor Phillips at the postgame Southern Association all-star party, Jack Parks grabbed it and handed it back to the waiter. "Don't you ever let me see you touch that stuff," he said. The Cracker kid has never had a drop. . . . As the oil pours in in Texas, Harvey Hester keeps a sample bottle at Aunt Fanny's to remind friends he's a Texas tycoon. He's got a piece of a couple of wells that came in recently.

Atlanta trapshooters are oiling up their welcomes for the big Southern zone firing at the Capitol Gun Club July 31-Aug. 1-2. . . . Ted Kazanski, the new Phils' pheenom, will be the best shortstop in the majors in a couple of years, if you subscribe to scout Jack Sanford's line of thought. . . . The new Atlantic Coast Conference is mystified by Virginia's indifference to membership. Maybe the Virginia folks have had their independence so long they like it. . . . "The players tell me," reports Mace Brown, the Red Sox scout, "that the best pitcher in the American League this year is Billy Pierce. He's throwing hard and he always had a great curve." . . . And whatever became of Aaron Robinson, for whom the Tigers swapped Pierce?

Everybody, but everybody, must love the Braves, for radio sales have jumped as high as 70 per cent in the beer capital. If they can't go, they listen. . . . GUS TRIANDOS PONCEY BUST, BUT STUMPY HERBERT STARS

Ponce de Leon Park fans can't understand why they have heard so much about Gus Triandos and so little about stumpy Gene Herbert.

In six games at Poncey, Triandos, the fabulous Baron rookie has collected only five hits in 22 swings for a .227 average.

Herbert, his unheralded teammate, has slaughtered Atlanta pitching for 16 hits in 25 trips and a gusty .640 mark over the same span.

Overall, Triandos, despite a slump which has cost him the Southern batting lead for the first time, is hitting .379. Herbert has a mediocre .287 mark.

Triandos turned over the lead to Nashville's Bill Taylor Wednesday. But, if Herbert could stay at Poncey, he'd get it back for the Barons.—OUTLAR.

CRACKERS' VERN PETTY LEGS IT INTO THIRD

Birmingham Third Sacker Gene Herbert Waits For Throw in Last of Fifth

Cristante Goes Nine To Top Barons As Atlanta Ties Low Assist Mark

By JESSE OUTLAR

If Atlanta played more games with Birmingham, Leo Cristante might be the ace of the Cracker staff instead of a seldom starter.

Wednesday, before a whopping car night crowd of 10,283, Cristante drew one of his infrequent opening assignments and muzzled the Barons, 4-1, on eight scattered safeties.

Though the victory was the fifth in a row, longest winning binge of the season, and the 12th in 15 games, the Crackers failed to gain on league-leading Nashville. The Vols protected their two and a half span margin with a 13-1 stomping of Chattanooga.

The strong right-hander, a reliefer against most clubs, is a front-line man against the Barons, whom he has conquered three times in four tries.

Relegated to the bullpen since June 30, Cristante was somewhat shaky in the first three rounds when Birmingham put over one run and left six others stranded. But Cristante clamped on a three-hit lid in the last six stanzas, as he bested Dick Fiedler in a tight duel.

Leo fanned eight, walked three and had the Barons popping up and lining out all night. This was evidenced by the fact that the Crackers had only one assist.

If Jack Parks hadn't dropped Gene Herbert's pop in the ninth, the Crackers would have established an unbreakable mark. But Herbert followed with a single and was forced at second when Bob Mainzer recorded the only assist. This tied a mark made by Atlanta in 1931.

The record, of course, is trivial compared to the two insurance runs that Parks knocked in.

At the outset, it looked as though the Barons, who have dropped five at Poncey, might win their second game here.

They had two runners aboard in both the first and second, then clipped Cristante for a run in the third. Norm Siebern's fierce double off the signs in right and Emil Tellinger's liner, which shaved Charlie Williams' glove, furnished the lone Baron score.

George Moskovich followed with a single, but Cristante retired Hal Smith on a fly to hurdle his last serious obstacle.

Smith landed a harmless single in the sixth, and Herbert, who has seven for nine in the series, doubled in the seventh and singled in the ninth. Other-

LOUISE SUGGS' GOLF SERIES FOR WOMEN TO START FRIDAY

Because women are becoming more and more interested in golf and ask with frequency, "How can I improve my game?" The Constitution Friday morning will begin a four-part series called "Par Golf For Women," by Atlanta's Louise Suggs, 1952 Women's National Open champion.

The series, condensed from her new book of the same name, is a regular Associated Press feature that is expected to receive widespread play in papers in all parts of the nation.

The daily series for the links-minded ladies will be appropriately illustrated.

Marciano, LaStarza Sign for Title Bout

Polo Grounds Match Set Sept. 24; TV Uncertain

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Rocky Marciano, the shoemaker's son from Brockton, Mass., will defend his world heavyweight title against Roland LaStarza, former college student, in the Polo Grounds on Thursday, Sept. 24.

They signed the contract for the 15-round bout Wednesday. It will be held just a year and a day from the night Marciano lifted the crown from Jersey Joe Walcott.

It will be the first heavyweight title fight in New York since the dreary Ezzard Charles-Lee Oma affair in January, 1951, and the first one outdoors since Charles took the championship from Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 27, 1950.

For that reason, promoter Jim Norris, head of the International Boxing Club, estimated that the gate receipts will reach "a half million or up," depending upon what arrangements are made concerning television. Norris said the IBC is exploring the possibilities of both home and theater television.

In any event, Marciano, as champion, will receive 42½ per cent of the receipts, including TV and movies, and LaStarza 17½ per cent. Norris said the top price for ringside seats would be $30.

A supplementary contract, approved by the New York State Athletic Commission, provided that if LaStarza should win the title, they would meet in a return bout within six months with each getting 30 per cent of the gate.

It's a rematch of one of the most controversial bouts in the careers of both boxers. They met in Madison Square Garden in March, 1950. Both were unbeaten at the time. On that occasion LaStarza was floored but got up and boxed rings about his rival, but Rocky got a split decision.

Since then LaStarza and his manager, Jimmy DeAngelo, have loudly demanded the return match they said had been promised them and Al Weill, Marciano's rotund pilot, kept side-stepping until a few months ago.

In Pittsburgh, Charles' co-manager, Jake Mintz, said "Ezzard got a raw deal, the rawest deal I've seen in my 20 years in the boxing game. Charles has proved he's the logical man to fight Marciano."

Since he won the championship from Walcott by a 13th-round knockout in Philadelphia, Sept. 23, 1953, Marciano has defended it once. He knocked out Walcott in Chicago, May 15, in the first round.

LaStarza hasn't had a fight since he outpointed Rex Layne, then regarded as an important title contender, last February. That bout was a turning point for the 26-year-old ex-collegian.

After losing to Marciano in 1950—his first defeat in 38 professional fights—Roland had to start near the bottom again. He ran into setbacks by Dan Bucceroni and Rocky Jones, both of whom he beat in return bouts. After beating Layne, he felt confident enough to refuse to meet Charles.

Marciano, meanwhile, went on to knock out such opponents as Layne, Louis, Lee Savold, Buonvino, Harry Matthews and finally Walcott.

CHICAGO, July 15—(AP)—Hasty House Farm's Queen Hopeful, a 10-to-1 shot, scored a sensational three-way photo finish victory with a dazzling midstretch drive urged by jockey Johnny Adams Wednesday to win the richest 2-year-old filly prize in racing history—the $105,735 Arlington Lassie Stakes at Arlington Park.

Queen Hopeful, dark-brown daughter of Roman-Playful, sent a sweltering crowd of 20,139 wild as she came from the outside in the six-furlong race to nip the 1-2 unbeaten favorite, Calumet Farm's sensational Miz Clementine, and Mrs. Otto C. Neumann's Beanir at the wire.

It was the fourth victory in eight starts by the little queen who only recently finished third to Miz Clementine in the Pollyanna Stakes. Her award was $67,565, the biggest purse ever won by a juvenile filly.

Miz Clementine earned $20,000 for second Beanir picked up $12,000 for third.

Fourth, about three lengths behind the bunched trio, was James Emery's Cosentina. She picked up $6,000.

Queen Hopeful's splendid time was 1:10 3/5, the second best clocking since the Arlington Park fixture has been run at six furlongs. The winner was only one-fifth second off the stake record set in 1932 by Hilena.

Queen Hopeful paid $22.20, $5.40 and $3.20. Miz Clementine returned $2.60 and $2.20 and Beanir paid $3.00.

Allie E. Reuben of Toledo, Ohio, who bought Queen Hopeful last year as a $5,800 yearling, said his horse certainly has earned a start in the $145,000 Arlington Futurity on July 25.

Kid Gavilan Wins in 10 With Ease

MILWAUKEE, July 15—(AP)—World welterweight champion Kid Gavilan won a unanimous but unimpressive 10-round decision victory over Ramon Fuentes of Los Angeles Wednesday night in a non-title bout.

A slim crowd in the Milwaukee Arena saw the Cuban open up with flurries of punches and score the only damaging punch of the fight, a solid right to the jaw that dropped the Californian for a nine-count near the end of the seventh round.

SPOKANE—Bobby Woods, easy 10-round winner over Fabela Chavez last time out, has signed to meet Freddie (Babe) Herman in a lightweight 10-rounder Aug. 4 at Butte, Montana.

LONDON — The once-postponed middleweight title bout between Randy Turpin and Bobo Olson may be rescheduled for London in the fall, Turpin's manager, George Middleton, said Wednesday.

Danny Giovanelli and Carmine Fiore, Brooklyn welterweights, signed for a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden for July 29. The bout replaces a scheduled New York state featherweight title match between Pat Marcune and Lulu Perez.

Little Loopers Open Meet Here July 27

The long tournament road to Williamsport, Pa., and the Little World Series begins at Buckhead's Bagley Park July 27 for Sixth District Little Leaguers.

Six teams—two from Buckhead, two from Decatur, and one each from College Park and South DeKalb—will battle with the winner advancing to the Georgia championships.

Representatives from each of the state's six districts will meet in single-elimination play in the state meet beginning August 10. State tournament pairings will be made Thursday night.

The team surviving these two tests moves into region competition at Greenville, N. C., battling the champions of North and South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee for that non-stop ticket to Williamsport.

Walters gained the semifinals with his victory over the Georgian and ousted Johnny Sims of Oklahoma City, 2 and 1.

Next Seven Days Crucial For Dodgers and Yankees

Bombers Face Test in Hot Chisox And Indians on Western Swing

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—It's back to the grindstone Thursday for the major league baseball clubs, and the next seven days may be big ones in deciding whether we're in for another Yankee-Dodger World Series.

The New York Yankees, now found human through their recent nine-game losing streak, move out West where they have an important doubleheader Sunday with the red-hot Chicago White Sox, followed by three games with the Cleveland Indians.

Al Worthington

If Casey Stengel's athletes can protect all or most of their five-game lead, there may be no heading them in the late summer stretch. If the Sox and Indians can cut into the advantage, the American League may be in for a crackerjack race.

Meanwhile, the unsteady Brooklyn Dodgers, holding a 1½ game edge in the National League, entertain the dashing St. Louis Cardinals in four games, beginning Thursday night, and then next week end tackle the second place Milwaukee Braves four times at Ebbets Field.

These activities, plus the doings of the New York Giants and Philadelphia Phillies, should bring the senior circuit scramble into sharper focus. Right now only 6½ games separate the leading Dodgers from the rallying fifth-place Giants, who have won eight of their last nine games.

The Yankees have four games with the next-to-last Brownies before moving into Comiskey Park, where they are apt to run into a hornet's nest with the White Sox.

The Sox have won 25 of their 31 games in the last month and have moved from fifth place, 13 games off the pace, to second, just five slots back of the Yankees. Now they have a 12-game home stand with the Senators, Yankees, Red Sox and Athletics.

Chicago's sudden reawakening is attributed mainly to a couple of veterans picked up from the Browns June 13. They are 36-year-old third baseman Bob Elliott, who has hit safely in 17 of 26 games for a .349 average, and 34-year-old Virgil (Fire) Trucks, who has been a factor in the White Sox' improved pitching.

Although the National League is developing into a five-team dogfight, Brooklyn's Charley Dressen is showing more concern for his interborough rivals, the Giants.

The Giants are now getting the best pitching in the league, with rookie shutout-whiz Al Worthington and Rube Gomez supplementing the regular staff. Also Monte Irvin is on a hitting rampage.

The Dodgers probably find it hard to forget that the Giants, who specialize in dramatic finishes, wiped out a 13½-game Brooklyn lead in less time two years ago and went on to win the National League pennant in a playoff.

Bears Swap Art DeCarlo

CHICAGO, July 15—(AP)—The Chicago Bears Tuesday traded rookie Art DeCarlo to the Pittsburgh Steelers for veteran fullback Jerry Shipkey.

Art DeCarlo

DeCarlo played offensive end and defensive halfback last season for the University of Georgia. He was the Bears' sixth draft choice.

Shipkey, a 27-year-old 215-pounder, played both ways for Pittsburgh. Bear Coach George Halas considers him one of the finest defensive backs in the National Football League. He played four years with the Steelers.

Three Big League Clubs On Hook in Legion Tiff

BOSTON, July 15—(AP)—Frank Leja, 17-year-old American Legion junior baseball star, remained under suspension Wednesday night as his Easthampton Post teammates engaged Greenfield in the first Massachusetts District playoff game.

Leja was ordered sidelined three weeks ago after he made an eastern swing with the Cleveland American League club. Legion rules forbid acceptance of "any form of gratuity" by Junior Legion players from professional baseball clubs.

"I have just finished a long distance telephone call to Legion headquarters in Indianapolis," Phillip E. Carey, the Legion's state baseball chairman said. "We're going out to the Easthampton Post tonight to get an affidavit from Leja that he has not accepted any gratuity."

Carey said Leja's affidavit would be airmailed to Indianapolis headquarters immediately.

Reports from baseball Commissioner Ford Frick's office are that the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Giants also attempted to negotiate with Leja and that "appropriate action" will be taken against all three major league clubs.

MYSTERY-MAN RUTHERFORD PROMOTED TO FORT WORTH

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., July 15—(AP)—Johnny Rutherford, prize righthander of the Newport News' Dodgers' class B Piedmont League pitching staff, will leave the team Thursday to join Fort Worth of the Class AA Texas League.

Rutherford, the "mystery man" who won the National League pennant-clinching game for Brooklyn over Philadelphia last year, had been sent to Newport News by the parent Brooklyn organization to work himself back into shape after falling victim to a sore arm and, later, a virus infection.

The ex-major leaguer had a perfect 6-0 record for the league-leading Newport News team since being put on the active list exactly one month ago. He came to Newport News from Mobile, where he saw no action earlier in the 1953 campaign.

Sanders Gains Fifth Round With Two Publinx Decisions

Stamps Beaten In Round Four

Special to The Constitution

SEATTLE, July 15—Doug Sanders, the slender 19-year-old former National Jaycee junior golf champ from Cedartown, carried Georgia's colors into the fifth round of the National Public Links Championship at rugged West Seattle golf course Wednesday.

Sanders, a University of Florida golf team member, showed his staying qualities by defeating Mike Holick of Minneapolis, Minn., in a morning third-rounder, 2 and 1, and then came back in the afternoon to triumph easily over Ralph Vranesic of Denver, Colo., 4 and 3.

Sanders' other two Georgia mates, James Stamps of College Park and Gordon Hammond of Columbus, fell out of the running in Wednesday's double-round scramble.

Hammond was eliminated in a third-round match by Ovid Syler, San Francisco, 2 and 1. Stamps, who led the Atlanta sectional qualifying test with a 36-hole total of 146, won his morning match over Wilford O'Brien, Seattle, 1-up, but couldn't cope with steady-stroking Ed Hart of Denver in the afternoon fourth-round, losing, 5 and 3.

Sanders' steady play enabled him to join a select group of 16 who will tee off bright and early Thursday in two more rounds which will bring the original field of 200 down to four.

The Cedartown youngster's fifth round foe Thursday morning is Andy Szwedko, who won the title back in 1939.

Wednesday's fourth round saw defending champion Pete Bogan of Montebello, Calif., ushered to the sidelines by Southern Methodist University freshman Hal McCommas. McCommas, who represents Dallas, Texas, clipped the champ, 3 and 2.

Two other ex-champions, Stanley Bielat of Yonkers, N. Y., 1950 titlist, and 1951 winner Dave Stanley were knocked from the tournament Wednesday. Bielat went out in the morning when Dan Sikes, a University of Florida teammate of Sanders, beat him 4 and 3. Stanley lost in the afternoon to Harold Haddock of Denver, 1-up, 22 holes. Sikes was ousted himself in the afternoon.

OLD JOE HAD LOST HIS GRIP AND FISH HAD THE REEL FUN

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 13—(AP)—Joe Goodrich, Atlanta fishing enthusiast, plans to take heavy gear along the next time he tries his luck in gulf waters off Surf, resort community near here.

Goodrich went out Tuesday with a party aboard the boat of Capt. Henry Taylor. He had a glass rod and small fresh water casting reel.

He tossed out his bait. Whammo, a strike—and rod and reel went over the side as the fish started for bottom.

Goodrich was lucky, the fish unlucky. The errant line fouled with the line of Doug Wallace.

Wallace reeled in, brought along Goodrich's rod, reel and a 10-pound red grouper.

Goodrich dropped his bait again. Another strike. Rod and reel disappeared again.

Some 15 minutes later, Fred Wunderlich, fishing from the same boat, hooked a big one. He reeled in his catch, noticed a second hook snagged in the mouth of the 14-pound black grouper.

He hauled in the line dangling from the second hook and recovered Goodrich's rod and reel.

Tom Fool-Native Dancer Contest Nears Reality

Ben Hogan Fires 69 in French Fling; Seixas, Connolly Cruise at Chicago

Condensed From Constitution Wire Reports

One of the greatest horse races of them all was one step closer Wednesday when the owners of Tom Fool and Native Dancer indicated that they would like to see the duel turf fans have been dreaming about.

John Hay Whitney, owner of Tom Fool, said that his horse will start in the Sysonby Mile at Belmont Park Oct. 6, a race tailored to fit the two turf champions. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, indicating that his Native Dancer probably would be at the post, too, said such a match "certainly would make a good race, and I hope to see it come about."

Sports in Brief

Belmont Park, in an obvious move to attract racing's most talked about horses, Tuesday changed conditions of the Sysonby from a handicap to a weight-for-age race. Under the new conditions, Tom Fool would lug 126 pounds, Native Dancer 120.

Ben Hogan shot a par 69, despite some erratic putting, over the Fontainbleau golf course in France in an exhibition for military personnel.

Vic Seixas and Maureen Connolly breezed into the quarter-finals of the National Clay court tennis tourney at Chicago along with other favorites. Seixas blistered Fred Hagist, Berkeley, Calif., 6-1, 6-2. Little Mo bested Marie Vidas, Hinsdale, Ill., 6-1, 6-1.

New York Yankee Mickey Mantle, who aggravated a leg injury in the big league All-Star game Tuesday, says he will be ready to play against the St. Louis Browns in St. Louis Thursday.

Final contracts will be signed Thursday for the sale of the Cleveland Browns pro football club by Arthur McBride and Dan Sherby to a group of Clevelanders. Purchase price is $1,200,000.

John (Kayo) Dottley, former Ole Miss football back, is fully recovered from a knee injury and has signed his 1953 pact with the Chicago Bears.

John E. Owsley, 71, retired munitions executive and one-time Yale football player and coach, died at his home in Orford, N. H., after a two-year illness.

Byron Nelson, Curtis Collier and Johnny Whitten fired three-under-par 70s in the opening round of the Arkansas Open golf tournament at Texarkana, but all played second fiddle to Paul Collum of Eldorado, who shot a sizzling 68.

Art Bragg swept to victory in the 100 and 200-meter dashes in 10.4 and 21.1 at Stuttgart, Germany, as the U. S. won all events in an exhibition track meet.

TOP DOUBLE-PLAY COMBO

Nellie Fox and Chico Carrasquel Lead Major League Fielding

NEW YORK, July 15 — (AP) — Baseball observers have been saying right along that second baseman Nellie Fox and shortstop Chico Carrasquel comprise one of the best double play combinations in the major leagues.

Chico Carrasquel

That conclusion was further strengthened Tuesday by an Associated Press fielding survey which showed these Chicago White Sox mainstays as the American League's defensive leaders at their positions.

That conclusion was further strengthened Tuesday by an Associated Press fielding survey which showed these Chicago White Sox mainstays as the American League's defensive leaders at their positions.

The tobacco-chewing Fox has made only six errors in 506 chances for a .998 mark. Carrasques, the graceful Venezuelan, has erred 10 times in 421 for a .976 average. Nellie has taken part in 62 of his club's 76 double plays and his partner in 48.

The Boston Red Sox also have a pair of pace-setters in the American League, third baseman George Kell (.974) and catcher Sammy White (.992).

Hank Bauer of the New York Yankees heads the junior circuit outfielder with a perfect 1.000 average. He has handled 133 chances flawlessly.

Brooklyn first baseman Gil Hodges, who also has seen some service in the outfield recently, holds a slight National League edge at .9947.

Havalanta Qualifiers Tumble 17 Records

Floyd Wins 100, Medley; Stolz Beats Own Record

By LARRY FOX

Records were set in 17 of a possible 20 events Wednesday in the second annual Greater Atlanta swimming and diving championships that also served as trials for the Havalanta swim competition.

Winners of the city championships automatically won berths on the squad that will swim against a Havana team in Cuba in August. The remainder of the team will be picked from Wednesday's Parks Department meet at Chastain Memorial Park Swimming Pool.

It was a day for individual triumphs with four swimmers—one in each of the meet's divisions—capturing a total of 12 championships. There were 24 events in all, including the diving.

Mary Link, 19-year-old Purdue University statistics major, stroked to three titles in the senior girls' division. Mary, who will compete in the national championships for the Lafayette, Ind., Swim Club, won the 400 and 100-yard freestyle events and the 150-yard individual medley.

In each case she won with ease and in each case she set a new record.

Marshall Floyd, University of Georgia ace swimming out of Brookhaven, was the only double winner in the senior men's division. Floyd, Southeastern Conference 150-yard individual medley and 220-yard freestyle champion, broke his own meet records in winning the 100 free and individual medley.

Hal Stolz, another Georgia star, won the 200-yard breaststroke crown. Stolz, working as a life guard in Covington, got off work at 5 p. m. Wednesday, drove the 45 miles to Atlanta and arrived just in time to change clothes, hop into the pool and set a record.

His time of 2:34.1 bested by over 13 seconds his winning standard last year of 2:47.4. However, last year he swam the breaststroke event after having also competed in the 880 and 440-yard freestyle grinds. His best 200 breaststroke clocking is 2:24.

Sweeping major honors in the junior divisions—for swimmers 14 and under—were Bobby McDonough and Dot Davis, both of the Emory Aquatic Club.

McDonough, a strapping 14-year-old, won the 50 and 100 freestyle events and the 100 backstroke and 75-yard individual medley. He set records in all four events.

Dot, who is 12 years old, won the 50 and 100 free and 100 back and finished second in the medley. She also set three new standards.

Several changes in the Havalanta squad lineup were assured early when at least two winners and a runner-up said they planned to pass up the Cuban competition. Jimmy Jacques, second-place finisher in the men's three-meter dive, has a date with his ROTC training camp, so his tentative spot may go to third-finisher Art Benton of the Atlanta Athletic Club. Spencer Boyd, representing the Piedmont Driving Club, won the event.

Senior girls' winners Elaine Fladger (100-yard backstroke) and Jo Holland (200-yard breaststroke), both of the AAC, also said they would not make the trip.

Adams Park, CCCC Tie in Inter-Club

Adams Parks' team of J. D. Croxton, A. T. Harmon, Vance Lynch and Bobby Lemming combined for a total of 294 to tie league-leading Capital City Country Club's quartet Wednesday at East Lake Country Club, but the Brookhaven boys continued atop the Inter-Club loop with a total of 31½ points at end of round seven.

Croxton and Harmon were low men for Adams with one-over-par 72s. Lynch posted a 74, while young Lemming came in with a 76.

Carling Dinkler Jr., paced Capital City with a 71. Others contributing to Capital City's total were Sonny Ellis 73, Gordon Clay 74 and Billy Black 76.

Druid Hills' team of Tommy Barnes 72, Bill Brooker 75, Harry Bernatz 77 and Gene Gaillard 78, finished third for the day with a total of 302. The Hillers remained in second place in the league standings, however, with 23 points. Adams pulled up into third with 13, while East Lake held fourth with 10. The Lakers finished fourth Wednesday with 304. Bobby Jones grabbed the fifth place point with 313 but remained for down the list in the team standings.

All thirteen clubs participated in Wednesday's play.

Cristante, Crackers Bump Barons

wise, Cristante had the Barons under his spell, as he balanced his pitching budget at 7-7.

Fiedler held a 1-0 upper hand in his argument with Cristante, rolling into the fifth. When Vern Petty started a two-run rally with a single in that inning, it was only the second Cracker hit.

But Pete Whisenant, who had landed the first one in the second, hacked a single down the middle, sending Petty to third. Fleet Pete took second himself on Norm Siebern's throw.

Petty crossed as Mainzer grounded to short and Whisenant amazed Bob Kline by sliding into third ahead of his toss when Cristante also dribbled to short. Whisenant then loped in when Smith heaved into right, trying for a pickoff at first.

Chuck Tanner's tremendous triple, which rolled high on the center bank, and Parks' RBI fly increased Cristante's bulge to 3-1 in the sixth.

Rain halted play for 20 minutes after the top of the eighth, and the Crackers sent Fiedler to another shower as soon as the game was resumed.

Junior Wooten was hit by a pitch, Dick Sinovic beat out an infield hit and Parks lashed a single into right. Parks' darter sent Wooten in and Fiedler out, and Pete Mallory strolled in to end the rally.

Whisenant, roaming far and wide in center, had seven putouts, including spectacular grabs of Gus Triandos' liner in the third and Kline's solid smash to deep left-center in the sixth.

Art Fowler (9-7) will close out the series for the Crackers Thursday night. Ed Cicotte (3-5) will try to salvage one for the Barons.

CRACKER DIARY: Dick Sinovic stands a good chance of becoming the first Cracker to lead the Southern in RBI since Ted Cieslak in 1945. Sinovic has knocked in 19 in the last 15 games and has 72 for the year. He's only six behind Nashville's Bob Boring, who once led him by more than 20.

Southern is loaded with ex-collegian pitchers this year, but Birmingham's Dick Fiedler heads the list. The tall right-hander already has two degrees and is working on a master's at UCLA. Though it did no more damage than a pop, Pete Whisenant unloaded one of the longest wallops of the year in the fifth, a screaming foul shot into upper left-field bleacher section.

PELS, VOLS ALSO WIN

Travelers Steal Memphis Script, Use Homers To Gain 9-8 Win

By BILL FERGUSON
United Press Sports Writer

Little Rock stole Memphis' home-run thunder Wednesday night and chased home seven runs with circuit smashes to drop the reeling Chicks, 9-8.

The Travs slammed out three homers, including a grand-slammer by Chick King, and managed the one-run squeek with a single tally in the eighth. Little Rock tagged Dick Strahs and two reliefers for 12 hits.

Thad Kapuscinski relieved Trav starter Verne Williamson in the seventh inning and pitched three scoreless frames to pick up the win.

New Orleans' Bob Purkey tossed a seven-hitter as the Pelicans drove Mobile deeper into the Southern Association cellar with a 6-2 setback. The Pels lashed three Bear tossers with 13 hits.

In an afternoon game, league-leading Nashville broke out of a hitting slump to pound out 16 safeties and a 13-1 victory over Chattanooga.

Young Jim Constable posted his 12th victory of the season, scattering nine hits and holding a shutout until the sixth inning, when the Lookouts put together a double by Tony Roig and a single by Don Grate and an infield out for their only run.

The Vols, until Wednesday, had dropped two in a row to Chattanooga.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT
Facts You Should Know About TV
None finer at Any Price!

All TV sets are basically the same.

The 3 major components of any TV set are: the tuner, the picture tube, and the cabinet. The remainder of the components cost from 1/10 of a penny to $5.00. In view of this it would be silly for Muntz TV, or any other major manufacturer, to try to save money on any of their low-cost components.

When you examine one of our sets you can readily see that Muntz TV spends as much, or more, for their cabinets as anyone else in the industry. It is also well recognized that Muntz uses the finest tuner that money can buy. It is used by more than 55% of the total industry. In the matter of picture tubes, Muntz TV has five suppliers who also supply the other top producers.

I would be foolish to state that Muntz is the best TV set made, but I will promise you there is none better on the market.

Here are some interesting figures on TV costs:

A TV chassis costs the manufacturer approximately $60.00 to build in mass production. Then the picture tube and cabinet are added to the manufacturing cost. From this, it is plain to see that television is not a hocus-pocus business. Basic TV costs are easily explained and arrived at.

A 20 inch table model costs the manufacturer between $100.00 and $110.00 to produce, complete with picture tube and cabinet.

In the normal run of business, average manufacturers double their costs to arrive at the list price of the set. The unit costing $100.00 to manufacture, automatically receives a $199.95 retail price tag.

With Muntz, no!

At Muntz TV, the set costing $100.00 to produce is being sold for $139.95 at retail during the "soft season," or summer months.

You might say: How can Muntz do it?

Here is how: In the Muntz "Direct Factory To You" operation, we employ several thousand people. We maintain our staff in production—not just for the peak selling season, but 12 months out of the year.

It is true we lose money during the summer months, but by selling our sets at cost, and sometimes below cost, we are able to maintain our volume and keep our plant and office personnel working without lay-offs, enabling us to produce sets more economically for our year-round business.

Now that you have some of the pertinent facts, it should be simple for you to understand that Muntz can, and does, give you the finest quality television regardless of price.

Our prices are so much lower than competitive sets because we do not have dealers or distributors who automatically add from 80% to 100% to the selling price.

Muntz has one price and it's "Factory To You."

Examine any other nationally accepted set and compare it with a Muntz TV, and you will find you are saving from 40% to 50% on our set.

Muntz prices now are at an all time low and will advance gradually within the next 60 days.

NURSE STELLA SERTICK TENDS BABY BORN HERE
Adhesive Tape Holds Feeding Tube in Mouth of Charles Eugene Watkins

Baby Born in Car Here At 26 Ounces Thriving

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

An eight-week-old baby, who weighed only one pound, 10 ounces after his birth in a moving car on Atlanta's Whitehall Street, was described by nurses at St. Joseph's Infirmary Wednesday as the "smallest baby ever to survive at the hospital."

Charles Eugene Watkins, called variously "Chuck," "Pee Wee," and "Bonzo," now weighs two pounds, 14 ounces—and doctors say he's "getting along fine."

Looking at the doll-like infant in an ultra-modern incubator, admiring nurses agreed:

"He's a big fellow now!"

Sister Mary Graciana, head of the obstetrics department at St. Joseph's, said the baby is the "pet" of the hospital. He has been nicknamed "Chuck" by his parents and "Pee Wee" and "Bonzo" by his nurses.

The baby's teen-aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Watkins of 890 York Ave., S. W., admitted they thought his chances were pretty slim when he arrived May 26 nearly four months prematurely. The 16-year-old mother (who married at 14 and had her first baby at 15) said she was "scared to death" when her second baby was born on the back seat of a car en route to the hospital.

"But my husband was more scared than I was," she said. "My father was driving, and my husband was with me. He told me later he almost passed out."

Mrs. Watkins insists the blue-eyed, black-haired baby now looks "exactly like" both her 18-year-old husband and their year-old daughter.

She said "Chuck" was "a skinny, wrinkled little thing with legs and arms about the size of your little finger" when he was born. The nurses said they used surgical bandages just four inches square as diapers for him.

"Chuck" is still given oxygen and is fed through a tube taped into his mouth. His mother said the pediatrician told her it would be at least a month before he could be discharged. He must weight five pounds before he leaves the hospital.

"I can hardly wait for him to come home," Mrs. Watkins said. "I saw him turn over for the first time yesterday . . . and I just wanted to pick him up and hold him. He's little but he's the cutest baby in the world to us."

Shelve Driver License Till Trial, Is Plea

A demand that driver's licenses of persons charged with drunken driving be suspended pending trial will be made in City Council Monday.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of Council's Police committee, Wednesday won committee approval of a resolution asking the Fulton and DeKalb legislative delegations and the special committee studying traffic court procedures to take steps to correct what he termed a "fatal defect" in existing laws.

Gilliam cited the death Monday of Mrs. Mrytle Cox as evidence that existing laws are inadequate to deal with a "dangerous" situation."

He said J. P. Warren, driver of the automobile in which Mrs. Cox was killed, had been arrested June 2 on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants but kept his driver's license pending disposition of the case.

49 Waterworks Jobs May Be by Private Pact

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Waterworks improvements on 14 miles of city streets may be done by private contracts in an effort to expedite baby bond paving already authorized.

City Construction Chief Clarke Donaldson Wednesday told Council's Water committee that work on 49 jobs is at a standstill because the water department is unable to keep abreast of the work. He said 57,000 feet of the 74,000-foot backlog was approved prior to June, 1953, and that some of the projects were approved as far back as September, 1952.

James E. Jackson, waterworks committee chairman, said he believes the most economical and fastest way to do the work is to let private contracts. Ordinarily waterworks crews make any changes necessary in mains before paving begins, but demands have been greater than existing crews were able to do.

Waterworks manager Paul Weir said he will survey the problem immediately and Jackson plans to submit the problem to the finance committee with a view of getting approval for the contract effort.

Speed Limit Asked

Councilman Wayne Blanchard has proposed a 25-mile-an-hour speed limit on all residential streets as a safety and noise abatement measure. At present the limit is 25 miles an hour within a two and one-half mile radius of Five Points and 35 miles an hour beyond that circle. Blanchard contends the slower speed would reduce accidents and leave thoroughfares with 35-mile speeds to handle fast-traveling vehicles. His measure will be offered to Council Monday and is expected to be sent to the Traffic Commission and the Police Committee for their recommendation.

MELONS AID CUT-UPS

Yaarab Devils Sprout Central Park Peaches

By AGNES McCARTY
Constitution Woman's Editor

NEW YORK, July 15—Georgia peaches were tied to the elm trees of Central Park Wednesday and traffic was slowed on Times Square for a watermelon cuttin' as Atlanta Red Devils unfolded more shenanigans for the Shriners' convention city.

Mayor Hartsfield, attending his first convention as a member, was on hand to wield the knife at the melon feast, serving choice slices from a special trailer filled with ice and melons.

While Manhattanites gathered around, Bill Small of Whitefoord Ave., dressed in a string tie and swallow-tailed coat, performed a "Georgia marriage" between clown-costumed A. S. Bobo of 843 Beechwood Rd., S. W., and all ladies willing to be wedded to the "groom."

Small jestingly ignored the threat of bigamy charges against Bobo, explaining that he was using a Manhattan phone directory instead of an Atlanta listing and it "really wasn't binding anyway."

Despite grease paint and costumes, Atlanta "Red Devils" spotted at the cuttin' were Olin Blackwell; Jim Dick, Red Devil president; Dave Wilson, Grady Good of Winder and Charlie Parker with his money "Chico."

Earlier Wednesday, the Atlanta Shriners had taken over Central Park, "growing" peaches from elm trees and distributing 25 bushels of fruit.

Mrs. Jim Vick, wife of the president, said the group planned to cut melons at Bellvue Hospital later Wednesday and march in the parade Wednesday night.

As to Thursday's activities, Mrs. Vick reported, "That's the day we plan to sleep."

Russia Pledges Technical Aid

GENEVA, July 15—(AP)—Russia is ready to contribute 4,000,000 rubles ($1,000,000 at the Soviet rate of exchange) to the United Nations expanded program of technical assistance to backward nations, a Soviet delegate said today.

This is the first time Russia has made any offer to an international agency for economic assistance.

Report Card FeeRowTies Board Up

A dispute over a 50-cent report card Wednesday took up more of the State Board of Education's time than was required to approve $5,000,000 worth of state aid for building programs.

In the end, the dispute remained unsettled and was referred to the state's attorney general for a ruling as to whether the Cobb County school system could legally collect a fee to replace a lost or defaced report card.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, whose 13-year-old son is a pupil at South Cobb High School, brought the appeal before the state board, charging that the school officials refused to give their son a new report card to replace a defaced one, without charging a 50-cent fee.

Sam Welsch, attorney for the Cobb County board, said the school system had a rule that if a report card is lost for the second time, a pupil is charged 50 cents for a third card. The Wilsons said they opposed the principal of the fee.

Piazza, Companion Ask Wed Papers

WINONA, Miss., July 15—(AP)—A justice of the peace said television star Marguerite Piazza and a Memphis executive tried to obtain a marriage license here.

But when an inquisitive reporter began asking questions Justice L. A. Blackston quoted the executive as saying "we'll make arrangements elsewhere" and the couple left town.

Blackston said William Condon and Miss Piazza were stopped for speeding a few miles north of Winona and brought before him.

Condon was fined $5, Blackston said, and then asked if he could get a marriage license. Blackston told Condon the circuit clerk was out of town but the mayor could issue the license.

Condon, about 45, has been married once before. Miss Piazza is about 33.

MRS. DOROTHY GODFREY
Home Economics Director

Mrs. Godfrey New Regional Director

By JEANNE HIGGINS

"It's meeting people that I like so much," says Mrs. Dorothy Doud Godfrey who has recently been appointed regional director of Home Economics for the Southeastern District of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Mrs. Godfrey's work takes her to eight Southeastern states to arrange educational programs, demonstrations and promote sales by personal contact with dealers and educational institutions.

Prior to her present appointment, Mrs. Godfrey was a home economics instructor at Ohio Wesleyan in Delaware, Ohio. She formerly served also as a home economist with the Tennessee Electric Power Co., the Knoxville Utilities Board and the Central District of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

A native of Chattanooga, Tenn., Mrs. Godfrey attended the university there and was graduated from the University of Tennessee in Knoxville where she majored in foods and home management.

While attending Tennessee, she was a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Omicron Nu, honorary societies, and Chi Omega Sorority.

Her first impression of Atlanta, after arriving last week, was very favorable.

"I think it's wonderful here," she exclaimed.

'The Little Black Dress' Back on Fashion Rack

By AGNES McCARTY
Constitution Women's Editor

NEW YORK, July 15—New York fashion creators are welcoming home their unerring daughter although the little black dress hasn't really been away—just out of high favor.

Ben Reig did his best with two-part dresses of suave black crepe. These separates were cut and belted to give a fitted one-piece look. His black dinner suits were fashioned with moulded jackets and filled-in round necklines. Skirts were very slim.

Elfreda-Fox gave black wool dresses all-over stitches of ribbon. Pierre Balmain's Paris collection, executed by Elfreda-Fox, played up a group of dresses for glamour at home—but perhaps it isn't so discouraging to be all dressed up with no place to go if you live in Paris.

Balmain's conversation piece was a trailing Norwegian fox stole worn over a fitted black fleece coat. His models all wore jersey pointed turbans with a side swath over one ear.

Patullo-Jo Copeland's show stopper was a silvered jersey cocktail dress with gold embroidered belt. The jersey resembled silver lame but was soft as a one-minute egg. Copeland's evening wear deserted last year's high neckline in favor of moderate decolletes.

There hasn't been so much furor over the half moon since Hendrick Hudson sailed into New York. Maurice Rentner has adopted the crescent silhouette for fall.

He did best under cover of darkness for his cocktail dresses and evening gowns were spectacular. Lustrous peau de soie, crisp taffeta and polished satins were embroidered to rival the stars usually gathered around an aging moon.

The crescent shape concentrates attention at the bodice through use of concave necklines and sparkling stones. Skirts were simple with easy lines in back.

Oleg Cassini is still making sensual dresses that appeal to men—but this year there are strings attached.

Cassini, who highlighted the second day of fall and winter showings of the New York Dress Institute, used lacing on high bosomed bodices to produce a corseted peasant look. One late-day dress, called "String Along" will encompass all looks—its long black satin sleeves and shoulders were laced with bareness showing through.

Cassini may do more towards reviving the four poster than did Lili Palmer or Jessica Tandy if the sucked-in midriff catches on.

Oleg's "Hidden Treasure" was a dress with a lattice work decollete that secreted so little no adventurer would need a map. He gave waistlines further attention by inserting an elastic knit midriff between bodice and slim skirt top—this was called "Second Skin" and left no room for a third layer.

The Patric collection for Miss America, making a bow as a member of the couture group, came up with a television gown so encrusted with brilliance the glare would have made viewing impossible.

The general silhouette was shaped with small fitted tops and full skirts. His separates boasted shawls thick fringed and ascots of bright colored silk that substituted for jewelry.

Ben Zuckerman presented his superbly tailored suits and coats that skipped manish lapels but preferred slim skirts. Zuckerman's pedestal coat was narrow and gently widened at the top and bottom.

Carolyn Schnurer, just back from Asia where she partied with Adlai Stevenson, presented most of her collection around a slim basic dress, zipped down the bodice from a cardigan neckline and featuring fold-over pleats at hipline and straight back.

She did amazing things with printed woolens. Challis-type, paisley dresses were topped by aprons of matching print taffeta.

The Hollander Fur Processing Company announced the development of a new process for dying mink. Until now, mink has been tinted—producing blue or silver glints. Now women may have a rich, dark brown mink coat for the low cost of $2,000—this lucious breed usually costs several times more.

MISS RUTH FLURRY TELLS FELT BOARD STORY

Stories Come to Life With Puppets, Felt Board

By JEAN THRASHER

Flannel and felt aren't just materials for seamstresses, and puppets aren't the exclusive property of the Procheck sisters in Mary Worth. They are also means of illustrating children's stories to Miss Ruth Flurry, story hour director in five Atlanta libraries.

It's practically impossible for a child to doze off during his daytime story these days. Miss Flurry, a kindergarten teacher in the winter, keeps tiny hands busy manipulating puppets representing wonderland characters such as the three bears.

"I use familiar stories for puppet plays," says Miss Flurry, "because we have no rehearsals."

The hand puppets were made by seventh graders, and the background for the fairy tale dramas is the felt board.

Flannel figures on a felt board are also an audio-visual method used by the storyteller. Although the only figures available in stores are those of Biblical characters, Miss Flurry has had others made especially for her story hour programs.

"The children think the felt board is some kind of magic," she says. "After the story hour they come up and try to find out how the felt board works."

Story telling is different from kindergarten work, according to Miss Flurry, because the children range from kindergarten to third grade age and each day in the week she tells stories to a different group.

Bible stories, modern stories and the traditional fairy tales are all used in the programs. The children have no definite preferences, Miss Flurry finds, but "some of the children are more sophisticated and feel fairy stories are old stuff unless you give them something different."

Your Stars Today

DAILY GUIDE — These are days of high tension, pressures and headlines. Maybe the troubles of the world do not touch your personal life, but it hardly seems possible that anyone could be so "out of this world." Today might be one of those days in which you can grasp some personal opportunities, relax a little, or plan a pleasant evening. We have had an excess of excitement and even if conditions are not perfect, a sensible break, that 7th-inning relaxing of tension, is called for and now suggested.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, CANCER! Do you feel aggressive and want to speak out with unusual directness? Watch that you don't go too far, or get too excited or ambitious. Your life may be changed radically by what you do now, so make your decisions carefully. A break with the past or a change in your pattern of life could easily take place. Some domestic problem should be cleared up before you go much further. Financial affairs slow down now, so keep expenses under control. You can be highly original, creative and magnetic, but will need to watch that you don't "blow your top."

MARY HAWORTH

What Is Fair Rent To Ask of Sister-in law?

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My sister-in-law, Janet, has come to stay with us for the next 15 months while her husband, an airman, is overseas. She is my husband's only sister, 10 years his junior, and doesn't have any children.

Can you suggest approximately how much money she should give me each month, to help pay for the food, in order to be fair to both of us?

My husband is with the Navy and at present his ship is in the yard for repairs, down the coast from us, and will be for two months more. We have three small children and I shall keep the house here, but I expect to stay much of this time with my husband—in a navy house, we hope. Janet will accompany me, as she doesn't want to stay here by herself. Should I pay for her meals on the trip, and for lodgings, if we don't get the navy house right away?

Janet plans to get a job when we come back, after my husband's ship leaves. Meantime she is a big help to me and nice company. Also, the children are fond of her. But I don't think the twenty-five dollars monthly she gives me is sufficient to cover everything, including entertainment. When we go out, to restaurants or movies, she doesn't suggest paying her share. So what can my husband do but pay for her?—R. G.

Dear R. G.: Considering the circumstances, Janet's contribution of twenty-five dollars a month falls far short of a fair deal for you, in my opinion. It seems preposterous that she would take for granted meals, lodgings, home privileges, free entertainment—and even, possibly, travel expenses—as coming to her in return for such token payment.

As the wife of an airman, overseas, she gets a subsistence check of $91.30 monthly from her husband's pay. And I figure that approximately $50 of this should be ear-marked for board and room—whether she pays it to you, or disburses it in a different arrangement.

When Janet is out with your family group, for an evening in town, or as a fellow traveler, she is neither your guest nor your financial dependent. She is a self-sustaining adult, presumably, and as such should offer (and be prepared) to meet her incidental expenses, unless you expressly ask to pay for her. I see no reason why you should pay for her childish whims in that regard. It is her extravagance, to be indulged only if she can afford it. M. H.

MISS MARTHA ANN COBB

Miss Cobb's engagement to Harry C. Wilkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph E. Ward of Atlanta and Gainesville, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. Cobb. The wedding will be solemnized on Aug. 1

Lt. Horne To Interview Graduates

An opportunity for women graduates of an accredited college to apply for a commission as a WAVE officer is announced today by Thomas M. Roberts, recruiter in charge, U. S. Navy Recruiting Station in Atlanta.

Lt. Helen Horne, USN, WAVE procurement officer, will be at the local Navy recruiting station, 1110 Georgia Savings Bank Building, each Friday to personally discuss with interested women the opportunities the Navy offers commissioned officers.

Chief Roberts pointed out that a WAVE officer now is an active administrator in dozens of offices and Naval establishments in the U. S. and abroad.

WAVE officers may be sent anywhere in the world where the U. S. maintains a permanent station and women are present. To accent femininity in the service, WAVE officers generally are permitted to wear civilian clothes when off duty.

Recruiters at the local office are making appointments for Lt. Horne and interested persons may call WA. 7834 for further information.

Tell You My Secret for some of the most successful luncheons, suppers and breakfasts I serve in summer. It's the repertoire I have of quick-to-cook main dishes made with Libby's tasty, tender Vienna Sausage. Like this Rice Viennese.

2 cups boiled rice — ½ cup uncooked shredded carrot
1 tablespoon sauteed minced onion — salt — pepper
Libby's Vienna Sausages

Combine rice, vegetables and seasonings, place in greased casserole. Arrange Vienna Sausages on top, sunburst fashion. Bake in moderate, 350°F, oven 20 min.

Watch this column for more of my Vienna Sausage recipes, with comments from Southern women who have tried them. And please take note: all my recipes specify Libby's Vienna Sausage. They're made from leaner beef and pork—richer in protein . . . bigger in value!

When Families Start Off for vacation, or a day's picnic, someone's likely to say—or certainly ought to—"Let's take along some Anacin®". Anacin has real family-importance, for if folks get headaches, neuritis or neuralgia in the midst of a holiday, it is Anacin that gives them fast, long-lasting relief from pain the way doctors and dentists recommend. Anacin, you see, is like a doctor's prescription; that is, Anacin contains not just one but a combination of medically proven, active ingredients. If you've received Anacin tablets from your doctor you know its quick effectiveness . . . and I'm sure, take care to have your Anacin handy at all times.

Brown Gravy Is Made easily—with the help of Kitchen Bouquet. It's rich brown gravy, too, and tasty. You know, pan-browning alone is never certain but Kitchen Bouquet is. Its special blend of 14 vegetables, herbs and spices always browns that good, meaty juice in your pan and brings out its natural meat taste. Here's another secret of good cooks: get more servings by slow-roasting meat. To make it deliciously brown, brush on Kitchen Bouquet before cooking. Brush Kitchen Bouquet on hamburgers, steaks and chops, too, for a real charcoal-broiled look. See directions in every package.

Mothers Who Serve "Malts" made with Carnation Malted Milk discover their children like to drink milk. No fussing! So I urge all mothers to let their young ones enjoy this easy-to-fix energy food with the delicious appeal. Carnation Malted Milk gives added rich milk values, extra minerals, more of the important vitamins than plain milk. And makes plain milk taste like a treat . . . and twice as good a body-builder. You have a choice of flavors with Carnation, as well. Chocolate or Natural-flavor. And because Carnation Malts are so extra creamy rich—they're tops not just with the kids but with e-v-e-r-y-b-o-d-y.

For Vacation Days: Get both flavors of Carnation Malted Milk. Both come in 1 lb. jars —each containing 20 generous servings at less than 2¢ apiece. Thrifty.

I Had An Experience the other day I wouldn't have believed if I hadn't seen it myself. I passed on a bottle of my favorite LANOLIN PLUS HAND LOTION to a friend whose hands were especially rough and dry from gardening. In 24 hours you never saw such a change—her hands were so smooth and so lovely. That was real proof that chemists actually did discover a way to blend an abundance of lanolin, with its valuable esters and cholesterols, into Lanolin Plus, so that the skin could get the lubrication it needed to stay soft and smooth. This Lanolin Plus formula now holds an exclusive United States patent.

I love this penetrating, protective lotion which gives my hands a wonderful silky soft feeling and appearance.

You'll enjoy using LANOLIN PLUS HAND LOTION right through your busy day, too. And no matter what kind of work you do, depend on LANOLIN PLUS HAND LOTION to keep your hands petal-fresh and petal-soft. Only $1.00 plus tax at all cosmetic counters. And you get as a gift with each bottle a convenient dispenser.

SOUP AND SANDWICH MEALS FIT BUSY DAYS
Novelty Bread Gives Special Charm to Sandwiches

Soup, Sandwiches Make Fast Meal

By JEANNE HIGGINS

One hot dish is "in" for luncheon even during these warm summer months. So whether you are chief cook at home or at a cottage or camp, there will be many times you'll depend upon a quick soup and sandwich meal.

Suggested for frequent appearance on your menu is a sandwich simply bursting with good eating. The novelty bread and filling used give these Ribbon Rolls a special charm.

FUN WITH FOODS

To make them, slit French rolls almost through at intervals to allow for a filling of bacon-flavored cheese links which just fit nicely inside, then warm the rolls in the oven until the cheese begins to melt.

Since cheese links can be purchased in garlic, hickory smoked and sharp cheese flavors, you can offer a variety of Ribbon Rolls.

A complete meal you'll have by just adding a bowl of hot vegetable soup and, perhaps a salad dish or a cool dessert.

RIBBON ROLLS

French rolls Parsley Bacon pasteurized process cheese food link, sliced Vegetable soup

1. Slash the rolls into medium-thick slices, almost to the bottom. 2. Between all slices place slices of cheese and place the completed rolls on a baking sheet. 3. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 400 degrees, until the cheese melts. 4. Garnish with parsley and serve with vegetable soup.

Lavin Baby

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Lavin of Chicago announce the birth of a son on July 9. Mrs. Lavin is the former Renana Epstein of Atlanta.

Elevator Man Paints, Too

Winston Churchill and President Eisenhower are but Johnnies-Come-Lately to the field of Sunday painting. Enoch Gazaway, the elevator man at the Henry Grady office building, has been applying color to canvas for pleasure and relaxation for 50 or more years.

"I was glad to see the President and the prime minister had found out about painting," observed Mr. Gazaway, "because it sure is a heartening thing for a man to do when he is tired and wound up."

Mr. Gazaway, who celebrated his 70th birthday last May, has been elevator operating in Atlanta office buildings for the last decade and before that he worked in the interior decorating department of J. M. High. But he has been trying to capture and set down his feeling for woods and trees and mountains nearly as long as he has lived.

"I've not had training," Mr. Gazaway said, sitting on the little stool in the corner of his elevator and letting his bright blue eyes follow the play of light and shadow on busy Cain St. "I'm not even sure I've any talent. But painting's in me. I don't know how or why. And it's what I love to do."

Born in Cherokee County, Mr. Gazaway grew up in Old Milton County north of Alpharetta on his parents' farm. He came to Atlanta in 1915 but he has never forgotten the scenes of his childhood, particularly the mountains.

"I'm foolish about the mountains," he confessed shyly. "When I can't find anything pretty to look at here in town I close my eyes and the mountains come back to me. Sometimes I put 'em down like I remember 'em."

Mr. Gazaway did the same with his parents' home and it is one of his most admired paintings.

"I just drew off the old house the way I remember it and everybody who had ever seen it said my picture sure was the old house all right."

In the years that have passed there have been many times when Enoch Gazaway longed to take lessons in watercolors, crayons or oils. Things he ached to put down eluded him and he was bedeviled by his lack of training but there never was money or time enough when he and his wife, Beulah were rearing their four boys. And now he's not sure what the problems were or if he could change or improve his technique if he had help.

"Beulah, my wife, is not well any more. She has arthritis so bad she can't do housework or get out much. So, I mostly go home and work in the garden. We both love a garden. When she was strong she helped me and we had the prettiest flowers and vegetables you ever saw. Right now we're eating beans and okra and tomatoes out of our garden—and I always have flowers for Beulah to keep in the house."

He sighed.

"I doubt lessons in painting would do me any good now. But I don't let what I don't know about it stand in the way, I just keep painting."

To keep the clutter of his art out of his house, Mr. Gazaway has converted the small coal-house back of his home at 801 Tift Ave., S. W., into a studio and he works there nearly every afternoon and on Sunday.

I remarked that some of his passengers in the Henry Grady Bldg. had admired his work very much and he said cheerfully:

"Yes, some think it's fine as can be and some don't pay it any attention at all. That's the way it goes."

The elevator buzzed and he clanged the door shut, waved his hand and went off to haul somebody from the eighth floor to the first—his mind, no doubt, filled with the picture of a mountain at sunset.

Stock List Spotty After Slow Trade

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, July 15—Good gains in motors, steels, aircrafts and oils spotted the New York Stock Exchange list at today's close but there were so many small losses elsewhere that the New York Times industrial average ended the day with a net loss of 0.01 point.

Utilities were soft here and there. Rails moved by fractions in both directions and the Times average, closing at 67.93, rose a modest 0.22 point. The net result was that the combined average, with a high of 177.23, a low of 175.36 and a close of 176.28, rose 0.10 on the day.

Douglas Aircraft was the feature of the market, jumping 3⅛ points to 65⅝—5⅛ above Monday's close—on a sensational improvement in earnings, a 25¢ cent increase in the quarterly dividend rate and an extra of $1.50.

SLUMBER

This, however, was an isolated bright spot. For the most part, the market slumbered. Volume was the lowest since July 6, only 840,000 shares, compared with 1,030,000 on Tuesday. Of the 1,025 issues traded, 470 rose, 379 well and 276 were unchanged. Half of the 10 most active issues were higher but the most active of them were lower or unchanged.

New York Central was the market leader, unchanged on 16,800 shares. Other rails, which had been up a point or more, ended with fractional changes in both directions.

Chrysler cut a gain of nearly a point to ½ and closed at 70⅞. General Motors was ⅜ higher at 58⅝.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem gained ⅜ each. Republic was down ¼.

JERSEY GAINS

Standard Oil of New Jersey rose ⅝ to 72¼. Pacific Western Oil, at one time more than a point higher, ended with a gain of about ¼, at 35¾.

Rubbers, chemicals, coppers and mail orders were mixed. Emerson, up a point, and Zenith, up 1¼ points, were the best performers among the televisions.

Domestic bond dealings declined in volume but there were some strong spots, notably among rails and utilities. Great Northern railway issues jumped 2⅞ to 4¾ points. Peoples Gas 3⅜s of 1981 rose 2⅜ and Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric 3¼s of 1970 spurted 3½ points.

Foreign issues were mixed. Treasuries were steady in quiet trading.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—The cotton textile market was again quiet Wednesday, but dealers described the undertone as strong. The armed services entered the market for 3,375,000 square yards of cotton drills and 2,126,715 linear yards of cotton uniform twills.

Orders for wool goods were small. Many buyers were absent from the market, attributed mainly to the vacation period in the industry.

Dealers said that converters sought only small fill-in lots of rayon goods, with the market not yet in full stride to the continuing mill and dye plane vacations which will end this week.

Fulton Bank Named School Bond Trustee

The Fulton National Bank of Atlanta has been named trustee of the $63,300,000 bond issue to construct new school facilities in the state, according to Fred Hand, chairman of the State School building Authority.

The paying agents in Atlanta for the bond issue will be the First National Bank of Atlanta, the Citizens and Southern National Bank and the Fulton National Bank. The New York paying agent is the Chase National Bank.

New Home Construction Shows Drop

WASHINGTON, July 15 — (AP) — Home construction dropped during June, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today, the second consecutive month in which housing starts have declined and have been below last year's rates.

The bureau reported 103,000 starts in June, which represents an annual rate of about 1,063,000.

The industry had hoped for a 1,215,000 home year and, in February and March was building at about that rate.

Builders' organizations have blamed the early summer decline chiefly on the shortage of mortgage credit in most sections of the country. Despite the fast start in residential construction, the six-month total of starts—577,100—is about the same as for first half 1952.

Out of State Swine Barred From Georgia

Further outbreaks of a swine disease believed to be vesicular exanthema were reported in Florida Wednesday as Georgia closed its borders to out-of-state hogs.

A herd of 900 hogs on a farm near Crestview, Fla., was quarantined Wednesday after 50 or more were believed infected. Federal and state experts were running tests on the herd to determine the disease.

P. J. Adams, owner of the farm in northwest Florida, said bulk of the feed given the hogs comes from garbage at Elgin and Tyndall Air Force bases.

Georgia Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder ordered a stop on swine shipments into the state after confirming reports of outbreaks of the disease in five places in Florida and Alabama.

Truck Driver Killed in Flaming Cab

Constitution State News Service

CARTERSVILLE, July 15 — A Savannah man, trapped in the flaming wreckage of the semi-trailer truck he was driving, was burned to death near here Wednesday as onlookers watched helplessly.

The victim was identified by the State Patrol as Willie B. Freeman, 31, Box 221-C, Savannah.

Trooper E. H. McDonald, who investigated, said Ora Manson Rodecap, 78, a retired businessman of Lake Wales, Fla., is being held under $2,500 on charges of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the accident.

McDonald said eyewitnesses reported that Freeman's truck was forced from the road when sideswiped by Rodecap's car. The accident occurred about three miles north of Cartersville on Highway 41 about 9 a. m.

Freeman's truck bounded into a ditch and overturned, McDonald said. He said Freeman, trapped in the cab, was burned alive after gasoline tanks exploded and set fire to asphalt, which the truck carried.

Eyewitnesses said Freeman remained alive several minutes after the accident, screaming for help. Several passersby attempted to remove the trapped man from his cab, but were forced back by flames which leaped 40 feet into the air.

Freeman was identified by remains of papers found in his charred wallet. The truck belonged to E. R. Davis Co. of Augusta, McDonald said.

U. S. Consulate At Gibraltar Closed Down

The State Department, in announcing the move, said it was "because of the need for greater economy in the overseas operations of this government."

All duties handled by the consulate will be taken over by the American Embassy in London. State Department records show the consulate was established at Gibraltar in 1794 and has aided Americans in the Mediterranean area ever since.

Scouts Visit Truman, Find Ex-President Out

By JIM WOOD
Constitution State News Service

KANSAS CITY, July 15—Ex-President Harry Truman had unexpected callers in the person of a group of Georgia Boy Scouts Monday, but Harry was out and the Jamboree-bound boys missed what they hoped would be one of the highlights of their trip west.

Four Scouts of the 324 aboard train No. 2 of the four specials carrying Georgia boys to California took a cab to the Federal building where Truman maintains an office "for all persons to come and see him."

But the former Democratic chief executive was not at home although he had just returned to his home state from New York and an extended vacation.

Associates told the Georgia group that they thought he had headed for Independence.

This was the second day of the trip across the expansive United States and many a Georgia boy is getting his first glimpse of how huge his native land really is. Most of them have had little or no experience outside their home state and every town with a familiar name is a new adventure in United States geography.

For instance, the Georgians got a look at Moberly, Mo., home town of Gen. Omar Bradley, former Armed Services chief of staff and GI-hero of World War II. They marked down the little Midwestern town in their diaries and sent home postcards to their folks.

This group is scheduled to arrive at the National Jamboree site Thursday morning after short sight-seeing tours of Denver, Colorado Springs, Pike's Peak and the Royal Gorge, site of the highest bridge in the world.

Headmaster of this special train is Jack Ennis, Louisville and Nashville Railroad executive, who has planned the entire excursion for Region Six Scouts and their leaders.

He and his staff of expert trainmen have worked out a clockwork schedule that is whizzing 324 boys across their wide and beautiful country with a maximum of sightseeing and adventure in a short period of time. Ennis was recently awarded the Silver Antelope for his work in Scouting.

264 Boys At Safety Patrol Camp

CORDELE, July 15 — Camp Safety Patrol, in its sixth week of a 12-week summer program, has its largest group of the season with 264 schoolboy patrolmen attending from Gainesville to Valdosta.

Usual capacity of the camp, according to Corporal Red Moore of the Department of Public Safety, is 248 boys. The 2-year-old camp is located on Lake Blackshear near Cordele.

Adding to the usual problems in connection with operating such a camp are three sets of twins, all from Atlanta. They are Carey and Gary Harralson, 11; Jerry and Harry Lancaster, 12, and Fred and Harold Calloway, 12.

Unusual interest has been shown in the activities of James Laller, 11, of Moultrie, who some time back lost a leg in a traffic accident. Sgt. Maj. R. L. Crawford, one of the camp instructors, described James as "having just as much fun and taking part in just as many activities as any boy in the camp."

Highlight of the week came when the 14th Air Force Band from Warner Robins presented a 45-minute concert. This was followed by a water safety show with camp and staff members participating as clowns and divers.

One feature which delighted the campers was an "escape" act, in which Carlton Woodson Jr., of LaGrange, was tied in a mail sack and thrown into the camp pool. "Woody," a 23-year-old radio repairman, came swimming to the surface a few moments later.

Norman Worrel of Atlanta is camp director. He is assisted by five men from the Georgia State Patrol. Leading school patrolmen from all over the state are brought here for one-week encampments through the summer months.

Blind Sightseers Find White House Enjoyable

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The sight-seeing buses lined up, and the tourists filed in, as they do day after day in Washington.

But today it was a trifle different. Some of them had their dogs with them, some had canes, others took the arms of friends who were serving as guides.

And the delegates to the convention of the American Association of Workers for the Blind—two-thirds of whom can't see—were away on a sightseeing tour of the White House.

Tagging along, your correspondent fell in with a couple of late starters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosenbom of Chicago.

The White House, it turned out, was just one more stop in a busy schedule for the Rosenboms, who already had been to the Smithsonian Institution, Mt. Vernon, Arlington and had taken a moonlight cruise on the Potomac.

Rosenbom can see a little. Well enough to act as a guide but not well enough to read.

But they both keep busy. Mrs. Rosenbom teaches the blind in Chicago, and Rosenbom said he works in an assembly plant.

"Charles is the only blind person there," Mrs. Rosenbom said, and added proudly: "He is in competition with sighted people."

Even a person with 20-20 vision wouldn't have got much out of today's trip through the White House, which was taken at a brisk trot.

But the Rosenboms seemed to enjoy everything pointed out to them.

SOIL PATTERN—PLAINS, Kans., July 15—A continual battle against blowing soil is being carried on in the summer-fallow area of southwestern Kansas, where drifting soil has almost covered fences and farm implements in place areas. Man on Burning Mattress Struck Her, Rescuer Here Says

A 53-year-old Atlantan Wednesday struck a woman who tried to help him from a burning mattress, police said.

Ptl. R. C. Stevens and W. R. Herbig said a mattress in the home of Robert Innes, 53, of 3275 West Shadowlawn Ave., N. W., caught fire, apparently from a cigarette.

Mrs. I. O. Martin of 3279 Shadowlawn said she heard Innes shout for help and ran to his aid.

When she reached the house, Mrs. Martin was quoted as saying, Innes, who was reclining on the mattress, struck her and cursed her.

Innes, a government employee, was booked on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct-disturbance, disorderly conduct-malicious mischief and disorderly conduct-cursing, patrolmen said.

Innes escaped injury.

Void Terms For Inciters Of Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya, July 15 (AP) — Keyna's Supreme Court today quashed the conviction and sentences of the Moscow-educated tribal leader Jomo "Burning Spear" Kenyatta and five others—because the governor of Kenya apparently did not know his geography.

The six men were convicted early this year, after a long trial in Kapenguria, in the Rift Valley Province, of managing the anti-white Mau Mau terrorist organization. All were sentenced to seven years' hard labor.

The two Supreme Court judges upheld the plea of the defense counsel, D. N. Pritt of London, that the magistrate who presided over the trial did not have jurisdiction in the Rift Valley Province. They ordered a new trial.

The crown counsel said the governor assigned the magistrate, Ransley S. Thacker, to a northern province, thinking that Kapenguria was situated there. They contended this was merely an error, and gave notice of intention to appeal.

The hearing was held in the heavily fortified District Council Hall at Kitale, near Kapenguria. Armed guards patrolled the roof of the building today as the judges read their findings.

Auto Traffic Injury Total Is Held to 4

Only four cases of injury resulted from a series of minor accidents in Atlanta Wednesday as the number of automobile mishaps—which killed four persons within as many days—abruptly dropped off, police said.

Two 'teen-agers were treated at Grady Hospital following a three-way collision at Ponce de Leon and Lakeview avenues, N. E. They are Philip Marion Brinsfield, 17, of 219 Sesson Ave., N. E., and Oscar Eugene Hubbard, 16, of 124 Fourth Ave. North. Both of whom received abrasions of the head.

The two were passengers in a car operated east on Ponce de Leon by Jack L. Williams, 17, of 2069 Delano Dr., N. E. Ptl. N. M. Taylor and M. J. MacFayden said an auto driven by G. H. Avans, 63, of 329 Oldfield Rd., Decatur, made a left turn from Ponce de Leon into Lakeview and the crash resulted. Evans, whose auto struck another vehicle after the impact, was booked for illegal turn.

Ernest Glenn, 42, Negro of 697 Smith St., S. W., was slightly injured in a two car collision at Cleveland Avenue and the south expressway, police said. Mrs. Alice Starnes, 49, of 2025 Peachtree Rd., N. E., received minor injuries when one auto rammed another in the 1800 block of Peachtree Road.

A Rhyme a Day

"Two or three days of the summer vacation should be allotted for relaxation at home."—Article quote.

This time of year the highways flow . . . with people who are "on the go" . . . the folks who live in inland states . . . are sure that something good awaits . . . them at the seashore or the beach . . . while those who live within the reach . . . of beaches and the ocean, plan . . . to go far inland as they can.

They visit tombs of Presidents . . . and view historic monuments . . . and battlefields and mountain peaks . . . and at the end of those two weeks . . . they're poisoned by the food they eat . . . they have a case of prickly heat . . . some blood-shot eyes, a sunburned nose . . . a car-trunk full of dirty clothes . . . with all the occupants half-dead . . . and fifty weeks of work ahead.

"The changes do you good," folks say . . . "they educate you, in a way" . . . but having been and now returned . . . I think the greatest things I've learned . . . are, that it's good to be again . . . where food ain't seasoned with ptomaine . . . and all the sights that one may see . . . don't look as good to you or me . . . as that familiar place where one . . . can rest from resting he has done.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VanDELLEN

Child Should Learn Good Eating Habits

Feeding problems are common in childhood and almost every parent has had trouble getting Johnny to drink milk, eat spinach, or try that grand new recipe the cooking editor had in the newspaper.

But in 99.9 per cent such difficulties disappear and the child grows up with dietary habits in keeping with the customs of his family and community except for a few likes and dislikes.

Occasionally, however, juvenile food habits persists into manhood or womanhood. At certain stages of life, youngsters acquire a fondness for certain foods like peanut butter sandwiches or hamburgers and insist upon these items with every meal.

Not long ago we had a letter about a married individual who, since the age of 4, had limited his diet to toast, peanut butter sandwiches, bacon, potatoes, and milk products. This created a hardship on him and his family. He never wanted to eat out except with his mother or closest friends who were familiar with his idiosyncrasies.

The man's wife was concerned chiefly because her husband's diet was not balanced and because she feared the children might mimic papa's odd eating habits.

The eating habits of this man have all the earmarks of emotional immaturity, with a persistence of a child-like pattern of eating. Most of us enjoy the meals served at the family table and it is here that we acquire our likes and dislikes.

Those reared properly find all foods acceptable; otherwise they develop fads or aversions.

Shipyard Labor Force Fading, Solons Told

WASHINGTON, July 15 — (AP) — America's shipbuilding labor force is in danger of dwindling to less than 100,000 because of a lack of work to do, an AFL official said today.

James Brownlow told a Senate commerce subcommittee the present force in all civilian yards is 128,000, compared with a million in civilian yards during the war.

Opening lead: Ten of diamonds.

Playing in a rubber bridge game, where there exists even the remotest chance that the contract may be in jeopardy, declarer should take nothing for granted. South in today's hand was lulled into a false sense of security by an abundance of assets.

The final contract of three no trump was natural enough. South, for reasons of his own, opened the bidding with one club and North responded with one heart. With this minimum hand of balanced distribution, South properly rebid one no trump in preference to raising the hearts and North, with 14 points in high cards, naturally proceeded to game.

West chose to open the ten of diamonds in an effort to promote something for partner. Observe that the more orthodox lead of a low spade would have presented declarer with his ninth trick at the outset.

Declarer, acting on the perhaps pardonable assumption that West held the nine of diamonds, played the jack from dummy, which was covered by the queen and ace. South immediately returned the suit in order to finesse the eight in dummy. When East took in the nine, the shift to the queen of spades was natural, and the defense gathered in four more tricks.

While this from South's standpoint may be regarded as a hard case, we are nevertheless inclined to charge him with a bit of negligence. In a rubber bridge game, the safety of the contract is the prime consideration, and with the dangerous spade situation hovering over the scene as a menace, declarer should have taken measures to protect against the possibility that East might obtain the lead if West has made an unorthodox opening.

Ducking the ten of diamonds in dummy would have produced a highly favorable situation for South. East would play low in diamonds, and declarer permits the ten to hold. There is nothing that the defense can now do to endanger the contract. Three diamond tricks are now available, which, added to the six tricks in clubs and hearts, bring home the contract.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By JOSEPH WHITNEY
Consultant

Does blindness "sharpen" your other senses?

Answer: Contrary to popular opinion, no! Blindness brings no compensating extra acuteness in the sense of hearing, touch, taste or smell. However, blind people learn to substitute these senses as a replacement for their loss of vision. They place more dependence on their remaining senses, pay more heed to them and put them to greater use than people with unimpaired vision. Their senses aren't "sharpened;" they are just used more often and more intelligently.

Tubs Take Noises Where Cats Whale

By ROBERT SYLVESTER
Pinch-Hitting for Ed Sullivan

NEW YORK, July 15—To put the whole thing in plain jazz talk, the cats are whaling it up all over town these nights and every tub can take his noise or his vonset and have a big ball at almost any of the traps. Roughly translated for conservative readers, there are all sorts of jazz attractions in town and whether a patron (tub) takes his wife (noise) or his girl (vonset) there's good music sung at almost any of the jazz joints.

At Lou Terassi's in W. 47th St., there's a new trio headed by the fine modern pianist, Beryl Booker. Beryl has broken with tradition and hired herself two gal musicians to back up her piano melodies. She has Bonnie Wetzey on bass and Elaine Leighton on drums.

Broadway's two biggest jazz joints, the adjoining Bandbox and Birdland, are trying to slough each other with competing powerhouse attractions. Bandbox has the Duke Ellington and Count Basie orchestras alternating. Birdland has Billy Eckstine, who sends all the cats including this one.

Eckstine, coming off the concert circuit and breaking away from disciplined big band backgrounds, is working with a quartet for the first time in some years.

The Basie outfit is probably the greatest rocking band in the country. It's disciplined and organized and everybody in it works as a team member. The outstanding soloist the night I caught the mob was Eddie (Lockjaw) Davis. Lockjaw is aptly nicknamed. When he takes a bite on his saxophone and starts blowing he's ready and willing to blow all night.

In contrast to the Basie blasting, the Duke stresses personalities, including his own.

The Duke also has Cat Anderson with him, the trumpeter who climbs so high he often sounds like a man blowing a sharp whistle. The Cat's cast-iron lip shows no signs of breaking down and he has enough humor in his work so that he can always get down off the roof after he's blown himself up there.

Bank Tax Filing Site Plea Denied

The Georgia Supreme Court Wednesday denied a rehearing on its decision that tax returns on capital stock of national banks must be filed at their main offices for all branches.

The ruling was handed down last month on an appeal of Richmond County from a superior court decree. The high court upheld the lower court and the county asked reconsideration.

The litigation arose from a successful injunction suit of the Augusta branch of the Citizens & Southern National Bank against a Richmond County tax assessment increase. Superior Court Judge F. F. Kennedy granted the injunction and the county took the issue to the supreme court, only to lose there also.

The court also declined to review a court of appeals ruling sending a damage suit brought by E. D. Rivers Jr., owner of several radio stations, back to a lower court for trial.

The court's stand in effect sustains efforts of Rivers to sue a group of broadcasting companies for actual and special damages but not general damages.

Rivers, son of former Governor Rivers, charges that the companies damaged his business and reputation in protesting his application to the Federal Communications Commission for a station in Savannah.

The companies named in a suit he brought Aug. 10, 1950, are Dixie Broadcasting Corp.; WSAV, Inc.; WDAR, Inc.; Georgia Broadcasting Co., and the Savannah Broadcasting Co.

A series of appeals began when Fulton Superior Court overruled demurrers brought by all defendants except the Savannah Broadcasting Co. In an earlier review, the supreme court directed Rivers to sue only for actual monetary losses.

New Power For WSB-TV Tops in South

WSB-TV Wednesday became the most powerful television station in the South.

The Channel 2 station increased its visual power to 100,000 watts beginning with telecasting activities Wednesday morning. This new power, granted by the FFC, was made possible through the expenditure of $100,000 by WSB-TV. It was coupled with the station's low frequency (channel 2) and its tremendous tower (1,062 feet) to make it Dixie's most powerful outlet.

Viewers in the former fringe areas are expected to report a marked improvement in reception, WSB-TV spokesmen said. The station has urged viewers in distant areas to report on reception in order that WSB-TV can determine the covering power of the new equipment.

The power was increased from 50,000 watts (visual) to 100,000 watts, while the aural or (sound) signal was increased from 25,000 to 50,000 watts.

Other stations have equal strength, lowness of frequency and height of tower. But no other station in the South boasts all three of these desirable factors.
